U.S. Military Ready to Help Laotian Army

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Brig. Gen. Andrew Jackson Boyle, commander of the new U. S. Military Assistance and Advisory Group here, said today his men will go wherever necessary—including to the front line action—to advise the Laotian army in its critical fight with pro-Communist rebels.

The changeover from the ostensibly civilian-run programs evaluation office to a full-fledged military advisory group came today with little more fanfare than Boyle appearing in a crisp khaki uniform instead of his usual sport shirt.

Only a few of the 300-man group turned up wearing uniforms, which were airlifted in. The rest had their uniforms at tailors for alterations.

"I forgot how to salute," one private said.

Gen. Boyle, a youthful looking 49-year-old West Point graduate from Culpeper, Va., says he hopes the impact of the changeover will be more than uniform deep, and that sight of Americans in uniform will reassure uneasy frontline troops of the Laos army.

MANILA (AP) — Against a background of civil war in Laos and Communist terrorism in South Viet Nam, the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization is holding its biggest military exercise.

U. S. Marines, Britons, Australians, Thais and Filipinos—6,000 combat troops—are moving in 40 ships toward a mock assault of beaches in British North Borneo.

Just last February, the United States conducted a huge military exercise off Southeast Asia. Thousands of soldiers from as far away as the eastern United States were airlifted to the Philippines for maneuvers.

International Paper Co. Loads Out Local Cordwood for its Springhill, La. Mill

Highway 29 Designated Major Road

In action yesterday at Little Rock the Arkansas Highway Commission changed from secondary to the primary system a 14-mile section of State Highway 29 south of Hope in order to do about $369,500 worth of work on the stretch.

The Highway is paved and was ineligible for secondary programming under Act 150.

The 1961 law requiring the Highway Department to spend at least $100,000 each year in each county forced the Department to change its program.

"A few of the larger projects have had to be deferred in favor of smaller and less important jobs," said Director F. R. Oliver.

He cited deferral of the stretch on Highway 29. In its place a three-mile project on State Highway 32, was programmed at an estimated cost of $111,000.

This section of Highway 32 starts at Highway 4 and extends three miles on what is known as the Shower Springs road. This was also given the go-ahead yesterday by the Commission.

Also programmed by the Commission yesterday was construction of two bridges on State Highway 355 between State Highway 29 and Patmos at an estimated cost of $1,125.

Yesterday's action means a total of $484,625 has been programmed for Hempstead County road construction.

The action on 29 was sought by a local delegation, B. N. Holt, C. C. secretary, County Judge Orin Byers and Rep. Talbot Feild Jr. Also on hand were delegations from Lewisville and Bradley.

The Highway currently has a 40,000 pound load limit maximum on it to reduce maintenance care.

State Liaison Officer Named

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Lt. Col. Leo F. Hailer of Conway, commander of the Arkansas wing of the Civil Air Patrol, has been named Arkansas liaison officer for the U. S. Air Force Academy.

Hailer is an electronics instructor at Arkansas Vocational Technical School, Pine Bluff.

OPERATIONS ARE GOING FULL BLAST AT THE NEW cordwood loading yard constructed this past winter between S. Hervey St. and the L.A.A. tracks by International Paper Co. PHOTOGRAPH, MADE WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON, SHOWS the big Hyster loading machine depositing a sling of cordwood on a railroad car. A long line of trucks was behind the camera, each awaiting its turn for the big machine to pick up its cargo and swing it to the car.

Eichmann Told Story Cool, Calmly

By RELMAN MORIN

JERUSALEM (AL) — Adolf Eichmann was cool and matter of fact—with one notable exception—during the long sessions when he told his story to his Israeli captors and a tape recorder, an informed source said today.

"He showed a little feeling when he said he expects to get the death sentence," the Israeli informant reported.

"I know I may face a sentence of death," said Eichmann in a recorded statement that was played back Wednesday for the three-judge court trying him on charges of mass murder of Europe's Jews.

"I cannot claim mercy because I am not worthy of it," Eichmann continued. "I should have hanged myself in public so that all the anti-Semites in the world would have had these terrible events emphasized for them."

"He was quite businesslike the rest of the time," the Israeli source reported, "but he seemed moved, a little emotional, when he read this."

Seventy-seven cartons of tapes were made of the long hours of interrogation that followed Eichmann's capture in Argentina last year. The prosecution Wednesday began playing back excerpts at the trial, bringing into the record the former SS officer's own version of the Nazis' "final solution of the Jewish Problem"—meaning total annihilation of Europe's Jews—and the part he played in it.

The trial is in recess today while Israel celebrates its Independence Day.

When the hearing resumes Friday, Atty. Gen. Gideon Hausner is expected to play tape recordings of Eichmann's account of the events in Hungary in 1944. Hausner told the court earlier Eichmann was a key figure in the killing of 437,402 of the 800,000 Jews living in Hungary at the time.

Poppy Day Set by Legion Auxiliary

The American Legion Auxiliary will hold its annual Poppy Day sale May 27, it was announced following a meeting earlier at the home of Mrs. H. O. Kyler, with Mrs. Ber Edmiston as co-hostess.

Mrs. Cecil Weaver, president, presided and announced the district spring conference will be held in Texarkana April 27. Mrs. E. P. O'Neal introduced Mrs. Ernest Graham who discussed "Safety". The hostesses served coffee and cake to 20 members and guests.

Frost Ruined Tomato Crop at Warren

WARREN, Ark. (AP) — Frost has devastated Bradley County's tomato crop, County Agent R. E. Hunter reports.

Hunter said freezing temperatures last Saturday and Sunday damaged three out of four tomato plants in the county, a major producer of tomatoes.

He estimated 25 per cent of the plants were destroyed and another 10 to 15 per cent were heavily damaged because covers had not been placed on the cold frames.

Henry Summerville Visitor in Hope

Henry Summerville, former Hope citizen who now is a rancher at Coalinga, Calif., 70 miles west of Fresno, flew into Hope Wednesday to visit relatives. Piloting his own Bonanza plane, he flew Mrs. Summerville from California to Crossett to visit her relatives, returned here, and will leave Friday morning for the East Coast. Son of the late Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Summerville, Mr. Summerville ferried planes overseas for the Air Transport Command during World War II.

Missionary to Talk to Baptists

Miss Nan Owens, missionary for the Southern Baptist Convention to Nigeria, Africa, will be the guest speaker at the Calvary Baptist Church this Sunday, April 23. Miss Owens will speak at 11 a.m. and again at 8 p.m.

Miss Owens is an Arkansan from Junction City. She is a graduate of Ouachita Baptist College of Arkadelphia and Southwestern Baptist Seminary of Fort Worth, before becoming a missionary she taught English in high school and coached girls basketball. Miss Owens is a cousin of one of Calvary Baptist Church's deacons, Mr. Dan Hamilton.

Everyone in this area is invited to hear Miss Owens in one or both of these services.

Report 20 Americans in Cuba Jail

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Swiss government has reported that about 20 Americans have been arrested in Havana, State Department officials said today.

"Three of the 20 were newsmen, the report said, but it did not give their names."

Earlier reports from other quarters had said that Robert Berrellez of The Associated Press and Henry Raymond of United Press International had been placed under arrest.

The Swiss also reported a rumor—not confirmed—that the pro-Communist Castro regime was preparing to round up all Americans in Cuba for questioning.

The word was received from the Swiss Embassy in Havana by way of Bern. It broke what had been described as a communications blackout in diplomatic contact with the Cuban capital since the fighting started early this week.

The Swiss Embassy is handling U. S. interests in Cuba because the United States has broken diplomatic ties with the Castro government.

The United States has asked the Swiss to tell the Castro regime to take every precaution for the safety of Americans in Cuba. Some 1,200 U. S. citizens are said to be in Cuba, many of them longtime residents there.

Castro Claims Rebels Are Wiped Out But Admits Fight Costly

Rebels Insist Men Joined Guerrillas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Prime Minister Fidel Castro asserted today he has wiped out rebel invaders on Cuba's southern beaches and captured large stores of U. S. arms, including Sherman tanks. But he conceded his forces have suffered heavy losses.

The rebel leaders insisted the main invading force has fought through to guerrillas waiting in the Escambray Mountains of central Cuba to carry on the war against the pro-Communist regime.

Echoing Castro's claims, Moscow radio charged U. S. Marines are poised to strike and repeated Soviet government warnings that the use of American forces would have dire consequences.

Moscow said Castro had "dealt a colossal blow to the forces of aggression" but "this does not mean that the threat to the independence of Cuba has been removed and that the interventionists have relinquished their criminal schemes."

Secretary of State Dean Rusk said the operation was not a major invasion but a type of resistance "likely to go on." He declared it was launched by "a group of courageous men who returned to Cuba determined to do what they could to assist the people in establishing freedom in that island."

Shortly after Rusk's statement, a new rebel radio station went on the air, reporting it was established.

State to Get New U.S. Judge

WASHINGTON (AP)—Arkansas is slated to receive one new federal judgeship under a bill to create 70 judgeships passed Wednesday by the U. S. House of Representatives.

The bill now goes to the Senate which previously approved a similar measure creating 73 new judgeships, including one for Arkansas.

June 2 Date for Poultry Festival Here

Arkansas' new state Poultry Princess and Miss Universe entry will take her first step toward winning the 1961 title next month with the first of four district poultry festivals set for Springfield May 13.

Three other district events to precede the state festival here June 9-10 will be held in Batesville May 20 and simultaneously in Hope and Russellville on June 2.

The Arkansas Poultry Federation, sponsoring the state festival and co-sponsoring district festivals jointly with local chambers of commerce and junior chambers of commerce, has boosted prize money for winners of the 2nd annual beauty pageant to a total of $1,750. The winner will receive $1,000, 1st runner-up will be awarded $500 and 2nd runner-up a $250 cash prize.

Four winners will be selected from each of the four district contests to compete as finalists in the state poultry princess pageant to be held here. The winner will represent Arkansas at the Miss Universe Pageant to be held in Miami Beach, Fla. July 7-16 and in addition to her cash award will receive an all-expense paid trip to the Florida pageant.

Applications for entering preliminary contests at any of the district festivals may be obtained from the Arkansas Poultry Federation, P.O. Box 1446, Little Rock, Ark. Registration forms also will be available from local chambers of commerce or any poultry firm member of the federation.

Pledges U.S. to Protect Self in Cuba Struggle

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy declared today the United States will not hesitate in meeting its obligations to its own security in the Cuban situation—should that become necessary.

In an address prepared for the American Society of Newspaper Editors, Kennedy again said that unilateral American intervention in Cuba would have been contrary to traditions and international obligations, "but let the record show that our restraint is not inexhaustible."

"Should it ever appear," Kennedy added, "that the inter-American doctrine of nonintervention merely conceals or excuses a policy of nonaction—if the nations of this hemisphere should fail to meet their commitments against outside Communist penetration—then I want it clearly understood that this government will not hesitate in meeting its primary obligations which are to the security of our own nation."

Kennedy said that the Cuban guerrilla fighters, aligned against the Fidel Castro regime are determined that Cuba must not be abandoned to the Communists.

"And we do not intend to abandon it either," the President said. "The Cuban people have not yet spoken their final piece—and I have no doubt that they will continue to speak up for a free and independent Cuba."

Nor, Kennedy said, will this country accept Castro's attempts to blame the United States for the hatred his onetime supporters now have for his repression.

The President's address amounted to a major foreign policy pronouncement.

His audience, the annual meeting of the newspaper society, was the same forum before which Castro insisted two years ago that: "We are not Communists."

A Bicycle Rodeo Is Planned

The Hempstead County Home Demonstration Council is sponsoring a Bicycle Rodeo Saturday, April 22, at 9 a.m. at Brookwood School. Mrs. Ernest Graham, county and state health and safety chairman, is in charge of this activity. It is designed to help boys and girls to know the importance of safe driving of their bicycles at all times.

The rodeo is for boys and girls in the first through the sixth grades from Paisley, Garland, and Brookwood schools. These boys and girls will be judged on the condition of their bicycles, riding ability, knowledge and use of hand signals, and knowledge of traffic rules and regulations.

Judges for the event will be Lt. Pod Porterfield and two state troopers, and Police Chief Jack Brown and two city patrolmen. Home demonstration women assisting will be Mrs. J. B. Rowe, Jr., Hinton home demonstration club; Mrs. Erwin Madlock, Shady Grove home demonstration club; and Mrs. Arthur Gray, Guernsey home demonstration club.

Cuban Plane Lands at a U.S. Base

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP) — A Cuban airliner en route from Madrid to Havana made an unauthorized landing at a U. S. Air Force base here today and was detained by military authorities.

A statement issued by Kindley Air Force Base said the liner lacked insurance coverage required for landing at a United States military field.

The base reported that 13 crewmen and 8 passengers were aboard and that accommodations had been provided for them at the base.

Pot and Pan Clinic Draws 68 Women

Sixty eight women attended the Pot and Pan Clinic at the City Hall April 18 at 2:00 p.m.

This meeting was sponsored by the Hempstead county home demonstration clubs and the public was invited to attend. Miss Elizabeth Ellis, Extension Home Management Specialist, was in charge of the program. She discussed types of construction in pots and pans and good or bad points about metals and glass.

Many times homemakers damage their cookware permanently by improper use and cleaning practices. Because metal expands when hot, one should never add cold water to the pan while it is hot. This is especially true of the thin gauge metal pots and pans because the bottoms will warp. Also because of the alkali in detergents the aluminum pots and pans should not be soaked in the detergent water.

Miss Ellis suggests homemakers use wooden spoons to stir in the pots and pans as the metal spoons scratch or damage the finish in the bottoms of the utensils. A good cleaning agent is the fine steel wool, vinegar and whitening compound. For further information on this call the county Extension office.

Senate Okays Kennedy's Wage Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate is expected to pass President Kennedy's minimum wage bill today by a margin of 25 to 30 votes.

With Kennedy as floor manager, the Senate approved a similar measure last August 62 to 34. Administration lieutenants expect similar margin this time.

Action on all amendments was completed late Wednesday after backers of the President's bill had succeeded in heading down all efforts to reduce the measure's provisions.

But Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana delayed the final hour of debate and vote until today after several senators said Wednesday night they were anxious to get away from speaking engagements.

With no further changes possible, the Senate is certain to pass the legislation in the form Kennedy recommended it.

This calls for an increase in the $1 an hour wage floor to $1.25 by 1963 and coverage of 4 million more employees under the wages and hours act. Most of these workers would be in retail stores, service establishments and construction jobs.

It then will be up to the administration to win the broadest measure it can in a Senate-House conference. The House passed a much narrower bill, providing for a $1.15 minimum and coverage of 1.2 million additional workers.

U.S. Bids to Boost Latin Relations

WASHINGTON (AP) — In an obvious bid to bolster Latin-American friendship, the House Appropriations Committee today approved an administration request for $600 million to raise living standards in South American countries.

Included was $100 million to help Chile rehabilitate areas devastated by a series of earthquakes last year.

The committee acted ahead of its routine schedule, explained Rep. Otto E. Passman, D-La., because of "the gravity of the Cuban situation and the outside possibility that some of our good friends and neighbors south of the border would misunderstand any reductions."

Passman headed a subcommittee that conducted closed-door hearings on the money request, originally submitted by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and increased by President Kennedy. Passman said his group's action was taken "reluctantly" because there had been no adequate explanation how some of the money would be spent.

The committee said it understood $394 million would be allocated to the Inter-American Development Bank for loans in the fields of rural living and land use, housing, and water supply and sanitation facilities.

Another $6 million would go to the Economic and Social Council of the Organization of American States to promote economic and social progress through field studies.

A total of $100 million was earmarked for the International Cooperation Administration for loan or grants—primarily grants—in the fields of public health and education.

EDUCATED MOTHERHOOD

by Janet Henry

When one, two, three, and four were born I didn't pay much heed
To theories of psychology; I simply filled the need.

When babies cried, I fed them, made them comfortable and calm,
And went about my own affairs without a single qualm.

But then there came an interim when I had time to spare;
I did a bit of boning up on modern infant care.

And now that we have number five, my frantic days consist
Of second-guessing what she'll tell her psychoanalyst.

Miss Harvey Feted

Miss Corneil Harvey, bride-elect of Freddie Max Glaze, was feted with a shower-tea given by Mrs. Loyce Hilderbrand at her suburban home on Saturday evening from 6 to 9 o'clock.

Receiving were Mrs. Hilderbrand, Miss Harvey, Mrs. Dick Harvey, mother of the bride-elect and Mrs. Winston Glaze of Arkadelphia, mother of the groom-elect. The honoree was lovely in a tulle-trimmed frock of white chiffon voile with a pink and orchid floral design and designed with a full skirt and low neckline. Her accessories were white. Her corsage was of lilies of the valley and fuchsia white mums. Others in the receiving line wore corsages of fuchsia white mums.

A bowl of tulips and spirea was on a hall table. In the living room an arrangement of pink and white carnations graced the coffee table. Bouquets of pink roses and spirea were placed at vantage points in the gift room. Miss Lynell Franklin presided at the guest book.

A pink organza cloth covered the tea table and was caught at the corners with white satin bows and net. In the center a tiered umbrella trimmed in white held over pink pom-pom mums and candytuft and was flanked by pink candles in crystal candelabra. All table appointments were of crystal. Misses Betty Ligon, Ginger Cruse and Suzanne Lee presided and served punch and individual white cakes frosted in pink.

Forty guests called and included Mrs. A. B. Hughes of Arkadelphia, Mrs. Neil Horne, Mrs. W. T. Clark and Mrs. Glenn Neathery of Gurdon.

State Has Raw Material for Industry

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas has four of the five prerequisites of industry—raw materials, proximity to market, abundant labor and a plentiful water supply.

Navigation on the Arkansas River will add the fifth factor—cheap transportation.

This is the view of Col. A. M. Jacoby, Army engineer for the Little Rock district who has directed the river development program during the crucial past three years.

It's the basis of Jacoby's prediction that the Arkansas River Valley will someday be an industrial empire to rival the Ohio Valley.

"Arkansas has been either static or in a population decline for the past two decades," Jacoby said. "Many trace this decline to a single major economic factor, the state's traditional agriculture without industry economy."

Jacoby commended the efforts of such agencies as the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission in luring industry to Arkansas. "A navigable river will fortify their programs," he said.

Jacoby said Arkansas stands to benefit in future years from the westward shift of the nation's population. "I remember for many years seeing a tag on advertising that said, 'Slightly higher west of the Mississippi,'" he said.

"That was because the industrial complex was centered in the east. But the trend is west and navigable rivers will help accelerate the trend."

Availability of water transport usually brings a corresponding reduction in rail rates, Jacoby said.

And he took issue with rail interests which have a history of opposing waterways development. "Rail traffic increases mightily where waterways result in higher industrialization," Jacoby said.

"One railroad in the Ohio Valley tripled its business when the river was opened."

Railroads, however, aren't sold on the Arkansas River project. The Association of American Railroads last year published a report which concluded: "If the U.S. builds this navigation project (Arkansas River), the annual operation and maintenance costs would be greater than the expected traffic savings."

Jacoby immediately took to the speaker's rostrum to declare that every $1 invested in the Arkansas River would return $1.10.

The dispute hinges on conflicting estimates of how much traffic the river will carry. Engineers estimate 13 million tons annually. The railroads contend it will be only one tenth that much.

At any rate the river project is at full steam, with a current target date of 1970 for navigation to Little Rock and 1973 for navigation over the entire 450-mile route to Catoosa, Okla., near Tulsa.

These dates are tentative. Engineers could finish the Little

Mrs. Graves Guilty of Manslaughter

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Mrs. Dorothy Louise Graves, 38, was found guilty of voluntary manslaughter Wednesday in Pulaski Circuit Court for the fatal shooting of her former husband, Charles F. Graves.

She received a seven-year sentence, which was suspended during good behavior.

The jury reduced the charge from one of first degree murder. Graves, 50, was killed March 1, 1960 in a pool hall he operated here.

Mrs. Graves testified that she pulled a pistol from her purse merely to frighten Graves. She said it fired without being aimed.

Gleason Can't Use Part of Show

NEW YORK (AP) — Supreme Court Justice William C. Hecht, Jr., today barred the telecasting Friday night of the taped Jackie Gleason "Million-Dollar Incident" program as long as it includes the "name or characterization" of the comedian's former manager, George (Bullets) Durgom.

Justice Hecht said that while

Rock phase by 1968 and the entire project by 1970 if the money is available.

Such groups as the Arkansas River Basin Association, and a Kansas-Oklahoma-Arkansas tri-state committee headed by Clarence Byrns, Fort Smith editor, are working constantly to see that the flow of money doesn't stop.

Byrns, who has been working for river development for 41 years, sums up the view of these groups like this:

"Every year of delay increases the cost to the government and denies to the people of the Arkansas basin the great annual benefits that have been unquestionably established by repeated surveys and reappraisals."

Phone Firms to Convert to Dial

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Public Service Commission today cleared the financial path for two telephone companies to convert their exchanges to dial and to expand services.

The commission gave the Mountain Home Telephone Co. permission to borrow $500,000 to convert its Mountain Home exchange to dial and to reach new customers in its Baxter County area.

United Telephone Co. got permission to raise $950,000 by borrowing and through issue of new stock.

The money will be used to convert exchanges at Clarendon, Manilla and Trumann and to repay a $770,000 loan from the parent company, United Utilities Inc.

he was sympathetic to the problems of the Columbia Broadcasting System it would be a clear violation of Durgom's civil rights to deny the injunction. CBS said it would lose $500,000 if the show was canceled.

The court acted on a petition by Durgom, who said he was being portrayed by a professional actor on the program without his written consent and that the portrayal held him up to "ridicule and contempt."

Justice Hecht said Durgom's written consent had never been obtained as required by law.

Trial Road Block Being Staged for Visitor

THE DALLAS JUDGE WHO MADE THE "CRACK" ABOUT the fair city of Hope and later drew the ire of several local citizens is coming to Hope for a public appearance May 8, but will receive anything but a royal red-carpet welcome on arrival. Shown above is a trial road-block being staged by Sheriff Jimmie Griffin and Police Chief Jack Brown on Highway 67 west as they plan to intercept the judge as he approaches the city limits.

JUDGE W. E. RICHBURG HAS BEEN INVITED TO appear before the Lion Club luncheon meeting here May 8 by R. C. (Bob) Daniels, a native Texan himself and a friend of the judge. Some more surprises are being planned, including a mock trial by a battery of Hope attorneys led by Chief Prosecutor John L. Wilson. If other plans materialize a "hanging judge" may preside over the trial of the Texan, who has expressed a desire to come to Hope to plea innocent and to make amends. But the whole affair is in jest, but promises to furnish a good program for Lyng Bob Daniels, who will act as program chairman for the event.

The Hames-Ball Engagement Announced

Mrs. Marie Hames of Harrison announces the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter Jeanne to Arnold Cuthbert Ball, Jr., son of Mrs. A. C. Ball of Hope and the late Mr. Ball.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Harrison High School and is now employed as secretary in the office of the Arkansas Acceptance Corp. in Harrison.

Mr. Ball, a graduate of Hope High School, attended Louisiana Polytechnic College in Ruston, La., and is now assistant manager of West Department Store in Harrison.

The wedding will be June 18 in Harrison. The couple will be at home in that city.

Mrs. Kyle Host to Legion Auxiliary

The Leslie Huddleston Post 12 of the American Legion Auxiliary met April 18 in the home of Mrs. H. O. Kyler with Mrs. Ben Edmiston as co-hostess. Beautiful roses in yellow and pink were seen in the home.

Mrs. Ernest Graham was the guest speaker and brought a timely discussion of Child Welfare with emphasis on safety. The program was arranged by Mrs. E. P. O'Neal, child welfare chairman in the local unit.

When the president, Mrs. Cecil Weaver conducted the business meeting, it was announced that Poppy Day would be held in May, new 50 star flags had been presented to two local schools by the unit Americanism chairman, Mrs. Joe Jones, and representatives to Girls State were disclosed.

Cake and coffee were served to 20 members and Mrs. Graham.

Coming and Going

Miss Mary Margaret Daniels, a student at TCU in Ft. Worth, Tex., spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Daniels.

Hays McRae of Jacksonville, Fla., will arrive Thursday to see his mother, Mrs. K. G. McRae, and other relatives. They will be joined on Friday by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Meek of Bradley and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McRae, Jr. of Delight.

Mrs. A. C. Ball, Glenda, James, Dorothy, and Robert May went to Ruston, La., this weekend and visited Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Ball.

Wesley Hamiter, native of Patmos, who with his family has been visiting in Hope and vicinity last week and this, left today for his home in Tampa, Fla. Mr. Hamiter spent the first three days of this week attending the Scottish Rite convention in Dallas. A former major factor in the produce business at Tampa for a quarter of a century until his retirement recently, he now has warehouse and hardware interests there. During his stay here he inspected the egg operations of Corn Belt Hatcheries in Hope,

DOROTHY DIX Opportunity Knocking on Her Door?

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE, Leviticus, verse 18.

Dear Helen:
I go to a high school which teenagers of all faiths attend. My girl friends are allowed to go with boys of a religion other than their own. My parents refuse to let me do this. We are Protestants.

It is awkward to say the least for the first thing I have to do when I meet a nice boy is find out what his religion is. If he wants to date me and is not of my faith, my parents insist I say no. How can I explain to these boys without hurting them? Is there any way of telling which are not taboo and where I might find them? —A. K.

Dear A. K.: Your parents, in building these fences around you, build trouble. It is human nature to hunger for the forbidden fruit. There is no way of telling the boys all this without hurting their feelings. As for those of the Protestant faith, ask your parents to take you to the churches and young people's groups where you are most likely to meet them. I suggest they reread their Bible, especially the 19th chapter of

Dear Helen:
I'm a girl of 17 with a bearable but distracting home life, who wants to be a writer. There is always screaming and flower-pot throwing in our house. I have three little sisters and share the room with one 5 years old. Every time I get on a "train of thought," she barges in. I try to stay out of my parents' fights but when the police are swarming about, naturally I am involved. So I must leave. Having no adult to whom I can turn for advice, I turn to you. —B.

Dear B.: Here you are, an embryo author, turning your back on a first-hand chance to observe, analyze and record the life blood of all stories—conflict! Stay and make the most of every family fight.

If you're to be a writer, it is essential to de-personalize the most personal situation. Once you acquire the ability to stand off and appraise every emotional crisis which concerns you, even though your heart be breaking you are on the way to becoming a writer, for to write convincingly, you must write about the world you know. If it is one of conflict, opportunity is indeed, knocking on your door. Keep that door open!

Dear Helen:
When I married for a second time two years ago, I knew I must learn to love my husband's 12-year-old daughter. This I have

Wants Complaint Dismissed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Midland Constructors, contractor for the central Arkansas Titan II missile complex, has filed a motion in federal district court here seeking the dismissal of a Labor Department complaint.

Midland is accused of failing to pay overtime wages to some employees for work over 40 hours a week in violation of the federal Fair Labor Standards Act.

Midland contends construction at the missile site is not interstate commerce and does not fall under the act.

done. My husband's 24-year-old son and family visit us every night. As a consequence we have no time to ourselves. My own children (there are two and three grandchildren) do not live here. I love my stepson as my own but being in the change of life, wish he would just come once a week —at least till I'm better. My husband won't tell them. Please help us to keep our marriage intact. —Nervous Wreck

Dear Nervous Wreck: Treat your stepson and his family as you would your own. Tell them the situation. Ask them to be understanding. But do so in your husband's presence. Your health should be his concern, too. I'm sending you my leaflet, "Menopause-Change of Life."

Dear Helen:
What to do with a husband who wants no recreation except TV and the davenport? If a ride or hobby is suggested, I get the blank look treatment. Would you suggest I throw the television out? —E.

Dear E.: Chucking the television set will only encourage your husband to look elsewhere. Prove you, to, can be self-sufficient. Build up your own interests. When he protests, as he surely will (men hate to be ignored), give him the blank look treatment. Once he sees the light, suggest a little more give and take. Send your problems to Helen

JFK Says His Tax Plan to Create Jobs
By FRANK CORMIER
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy today sent Congress a tax plan which he said would help modernize American business and create 500,000 jobs. He said a possible general tax cut should wait until next year. The President said his proposal would attack "expense account living," discourage tax cheating and reduce the worrisome flow of U.S. dollars abroad without cutting into federal revenues. In a 6,300-word special message, Kennedy described his program as "a first though urgent step" toward broad tax reform in 1965 — reform which he said could combine elimination of loopholes and discriminatory provisions with a lowering of basic tax rates. These were among the most notable items in the first-step package: A special tax incentive for business to modernize and expand, withholding of taxes on dividends and interest, repeal of the special tax treatment given dividends, and discouragement of corporate investment in competing industrial countries. Kennedy also proposed stricter curbs on tax-deductible expense accounts, the elimination of foreign "tax havens" and the collection of taxes from high-income Americans — notably movie stars — who move abroad in the hope of escaping the U.S. income tax. He said the business investment incentive would cut revenues by $1.7 billion a year. However, he said the other items would offset this and leave at least $50 million to spare. Many of the specifics were sure to stir controversy aplenty. However, there could be little argument over Kennedy's main objectives: to stimulate the economy, make U.S. business more competitive with fast-stopping foreign competition, and reduce the nation's balance of payments deficit. The key item, and perhaps the most controversial, was the proposed tax incentive for business expansion and modernization. In essence, Kennedy would permit companies to subtract from their tax bills an amount equal to part of their annual investment in new or improved facilities. Many businessmen already have indicated opposition to this "tax credit" idea. Some have said they would rather be allowed to increase their depreciation allowances; that is, the amount they can set aside, free from tax, to offset the inevitable aging of new or improved facilities which must eventually be replaced. The move takes an estimated 1,800 jobs from the Muskogean area.

Rebels Insist
Associated Press correspondent Ben Price, in a dispatch from the U.S. Naval Base at Guantanamo Bay, said anti-Castro Cubans in Oriente Province are fearful that the rebels waited too long to strike and thus allowed Castro to arrest or scatter leaders who might have been rallying points for an uprising. Price quoted an American source familiar with the activities of Cubans in Oriente as saying the population hopes the revolt against Castro will succeed "but they are doing nothing until they have a better idea of what is happening." The whereabouts of Castro was a mystery. Although a prolific speaker with a penchant for the limelight, he has not been heard over the Cuban radio or seen on television since the insurgents invaded Cuba Monday. Raul Castro, the prime minister's brother and minister of the armed forces, was reported in Santiago, capital of Oriente Province where he has directed the campaign against rebels in the hills. President Kennedy called a full cabinet meeting today in Washington and planned to discuss the explosive Cuban situation publicly in a speech to the American Society of Newspaper Editors — the same group Castro told two years ago "we are not Communists." A long editorial in Pravda, the Soviet Communist party organ, attacked what it called "Kennedy's big stick policy" toward Cuba and repeated the warning made by the Soviet government Tuesday that U.S. support of the Cuban rebels "may jeopardize the peaceful life of the United States itself."

Norge Families to Visit Fort Smith
MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP) — An airlift of key Norge division employees and their wives to inspect living conditions at Fort Smith, Ark., was underway today from Muskegon. The company plans to fly about 100 couples to Fort Smith and back in the next few weeks by chartered aircraft. The program started last week. Norge officials say the trips are offered to personnel invited to transfer with the firm from Muskegon to a new plant in Arkansas.

Arkansas' W. Moon Already Has 6 Homers

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Any day now they'll be calling sliced home runs over the left field screen in the Los Angeles Coliseum "moon-shots." That's because the Dodgers' southpaw swinging Wally Moon appears to have perfected the art of dumping fly balls for homers in that sector.

Moon has hit six home runs in eight games, all over the Coliseum's 42-foot-high left field screen, only 251 feet from home plate. The Dodger outfielder, an honor student at Texas A&M some years ago, claims a newly perfected "reverse english" swing has been largely responsible for his sudden rash of homers.

In any event, Wally struck two of those "moon-shots" Wednesday night to lead the Dodgers to a 7-2 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals. The first homer came with two on in the first inning. The second was a solo flight in the fourth. He walked in the sixth and slashed a run-scoring single to center—in the seventh to account for five runs batted in with a perfect evening at the plate.

Cincinnati made it two straight over San Francisco with a 4-2 triumph and retained first place in the National League. Pittsburgh climbed into second place with a 4-1 victory over Chicago. Rain stopped Milwaukee and Philadelphia for the second straight day.

Rain also curtailed American League activity, washing out scheduled games between Los Angeles and the Yankees in New York; Minnesota and the Red Sox in Boston; and Kansas City and the Orioles in Baltimore. Detroit moved into second place with a 5-2 victory over Cleveland and Washington spoiled Chicago's home opener with a 7-2 victory over the White Sox.

Drysdale, although tagged for nine hits, went all the way for the Dodgers, to record his second victory against one defeat. Ernie Broglio was the loser.

Bob Friend pitched a three-hitter and Dick Groat, Bob Skinner and Roberto Clemente each had two hits in the Pirate victory over the Cubs. Ernie Banks' home run in the seventh spoiled a shutout bid by Friend.

Eddie Kasko's scoring single sparked a two-run ninth that enabled the Reds to snap a 2-2 tie with the Giants. Rookie right-hander Ken Hunt worked eight innings and won his first major league start. Jack Sanford was the loser.

Porkers Will Depend on Billy Moody

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—A rangy sophomore from North Little Rock has a job cut out for him trying to fill the shoes of a smaller man.

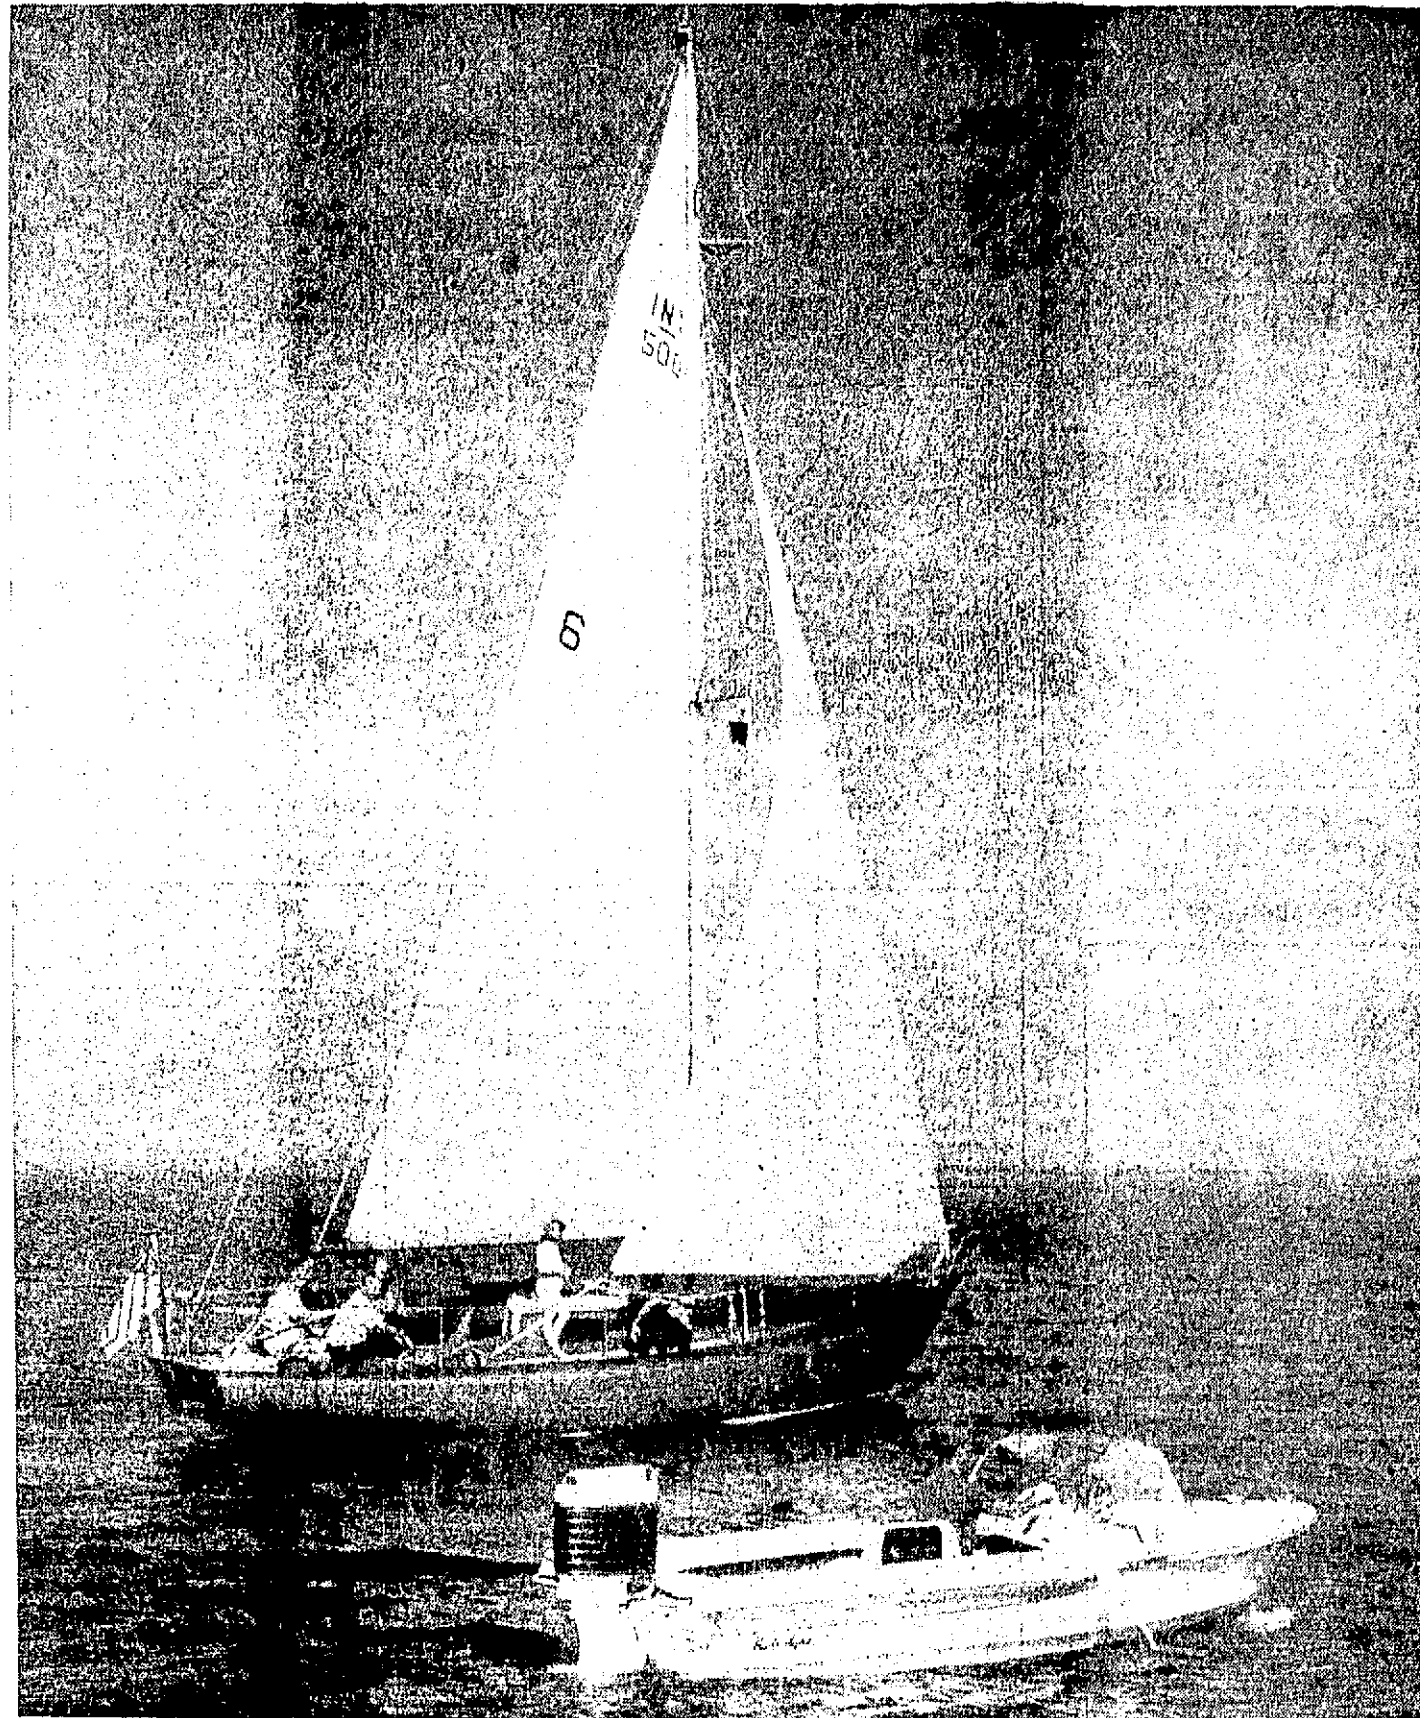

Billy Joe Moody, a banging full-back last fall for the Southwest Conference Champion Arkansas Razorbacks, is the man tapped by Coach Frank Broyles to succeed linebacker Wayne Harris, an all-conference choice for two straight years.

Moody has the potential to replace Harris, Broyles said. And he'll have to come through to give the Porkers another title contender, because Broyles lists linebacker as a weak spot.

Moody is specifically tabbed for the "monster man," the roving linebacker in the Hog system. Broyles said he'll keep Moody at that spot.

Broyles has two other hard-running fullbacks in Mickey Cissell and converted halfback

Jim Worthington, but he's short on linebackers. And he could always put Moody back at fullback. Cissell and Worthington have been the bright spots of spring drills so far, Broyles said Tuesday. He said he has been a little disappointed in the showings of last year's freshmen, none of whom have shown up well in spring work.

Broyles said none of the young ends or linemen have looked good—and he rated end right up along with linebacker as a major weak point.

The Hogs went back to work today after a one-day layoff. The workout will be filmed for study by coaches and practice Friday before the scrimmage Saturday.

Fear Rebels Waited Too Long to Hit

By BEM PRICE

GUANTANAMO BAY, Cuba (AP)—Anti-Castro Cubans in Oriente Province are reported fearful that rebel invaders waited too long to strike, that the Fidel Castro government had enough time to round up the potential leaders of the uprising on which the invaders count.

An American source thoroughly familiar with the activities of Cubans in this eastern end of the island where Fidel Castro started his revolution said the population hopes the counterrevolution will succeed.

"But they are doing nothing until they have a better idea of what is happening," the source continued.

"If the counterrevolution fails, the failure will be blamed on the United States and nothing the United States can say or do will persuade them that our help and sympathy is worthwhile for years to come."

The source gave this assessment of the situation in Oriente, Cuba's largest and most populous province.

For a public uprising, the people need a rallying point. But Castro's government has had time to arrest or scatter those who might have served as leaders. An uprising around the province's cities especially Santiago or Guantanamo City, would be extremely difficult.

"I would guess," the source said, "that Castro and company feel they can control this thing."

Much of the actual power in the region apparently is exercised by youths who have been given forced indoctrination and armed with rifles and submachineguns. They reportedly make up most of the night patrols that roam the area and they have no hesitation in pushing their elders around.

Hundreds of Roman Catholic priests throughout the eastern end of the island have been arrested or subjected to humiliations of one sort or another.

These attacks on the priests, together with assorted inconveniences, have created considerable resentment against the Castro government.

While there is apparently plenty of food and medicine in Cuba, transportation has been so bungled by innumerable militia road blocks that local shortages exist.

The women have been unable to get cosmetics. They have had to cook with a foul-smelling Soviet lard. Soap and detergents are nonexistent. While these seem little things, they may be the stuff of which revolutions and counter-revolutions are made.

Home demonstration agents began their work in Arkansas about 1912.

Counties Are Relieved of Right of Ways

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Highway Commission today relieved county judges of responsibility for acquiring right of way for federal aid road projects.

For several years the commission had paid judges the appraised value of needed right of way and let the judges negotiate for actual purchase of the land.

Under the new policy, the Highway Department will assume full responsibility for acquiring right of way, Highway Director F. R. Oliver said.

The old practice was criticized last year by the federal Bureau of Public Roads and Oliver said federal regulations had been rewritten to outlaw the practice.

Sometimes a judge was able to save money on actual cost of the land and sometimes he had to pay more for it than the Highway Department provided, Oliver said. The difference sometimes came out of county funds.

In cases where cities and counties are required to furnish right of way at no cost to the state, the commission decided today to assume obligation for the cost of removing obstructions.

The commission today programmed widening and resurfacing of 1,200 feet of Highway 71 in Fayetteville at an estimated cost of $80,000. The project would extend south from the highway's intersection with North Street. Fayetteville will be required to furnish right of way.

Other jobs programmed today included: Reconstruction of about 7.1 miles of Highway 1 from near Jonesboro to the Greene County line, estimated to cost $450,000 and resurfacing about three miles of Highway 82 east from Crosssett, estimated cost $200,000.

The commission agreed to spend $3,000 to help the Cotton Belt Railroad build an overpass at Camden to eliminate two right-angle turns in Highway 7.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana today predicted quick passage of the Kennedy administration's minimum wage proposals.

Mansfield said after a meeting of Democratic congressional leaders with President Kennedy that wage legislation should clear the Senate today—or Wednesday at the latest.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas said the Democratic leadership had told Kennedy that they expect the House to pass this week bills to broaden Social Security benefits and create some

Hope to Host Tourney for State Archers

The Dyke Springs Archers will host a State Invitational Field Archery meet at Dyke Springs, beginning Sunday morning at 9:00. The meet will consist of a morning round of 82 Field Targets and an afternoon round of 28 animal targets.

The top Archers in the State will participate in the meet including shooters from Hot Springs, Little Rock, No. Little Rock, Pine Bluff, El Dorado, Camden and Hope. Since Arkansas is now one of the top Field Archery states in the country and will host the National Field Tournament at Hot Springs this year, some outstanding shooting should be displayed at this tournament.

The tournament will be conducted by members of the Hope Youth Council and spectators wishing to watch the shooting will be permitted to accompany each shooting group. The Archers will shoot in groups of 4, shooting the targets in rotation much like in a golf tournament. Each group of shooters will begin on a different target and rotate back to the beginning target, shooting a total of 28 targets.

Cold drinks will be available at the range and anyone coming early may place an order for lunch to be delivered to the range at noon. Members of the Youth Center will be available to take orders for lunches and to guide any interested spectators.

Weather permitting, this should be an exciting event for both shooters and spectators.

Fishing Around Arkansas Lakes

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Here is a fishing forecast from the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission: Lake Hamilton: Clear and normal. Bass fair to good on artificial lures. Crappie fair on minnows. Bream fair on crickets and worms.

Lake Catherine: Dinky on lower end and low. Bass fair on artificial bait. Crappie fair on minnows. Bream fair on worms.

Lake Conway: High and Dinky. Two gates open. All fishing fair.

Lake Bull Shoals: Clear and normal. Bass and crappie fair to good at night on jigs and cels.

Lake Maumelle: Water clear. Bass good on deep-running jigs and plugs. Crappie fair to good on small jigs, small artificial wooden minnows and small yellow and white hotshots.

Lake Ouachita: Black bass good on live and artificial bait. Crappie fair on live bait.

Lakes Norfolk and Groeson: No report.

Palmer and Player Open Another Duel

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Arnold Palmer and Gary Player resumed their golf duel today in the opening round of the $40,000 Houston Classic.

The stars of the Masters tournament two weeks ago were heavy favorites to battle it out for the $7,000 first prize.

Palmer rated a narrow edge although his first practice rounds since losing to Player at Augusta were not as impressive as those of the South Africa star.

After a week's absence from the tournament trail, Player tuned up practice rounds of 70, 66, and 68 for the 7,122-yard, par 35-35-70 Memorial Park course. Palmer had a 74 Tuesday and declined to discuss his score for his final warm up Wednesday.

The favorite's role went to Palmer on the strength of his having won $12,851.11 at Memorial since 1955. He won the Classic in 1957, was one stroke off the pace in 1959, and lost an 18-hole playoff last year to Bill Collins.

In addition to Collins and Palmer, today's starting field of 107 pros and 5 amateurs included four other winners of the Classic, Mike Souchak, Jack Burke Jr., Mary Furgol, and Dave Douglas.

Like Palmer, Collins and Souchak were not too pleased with their final practice scores.

"I'd be ashamed to say what I had," said Collins, who won last year's top prize of $5,300 by placing a 69 against Palmer's 71.

Detroit Trade May Turn Out Steal of Year

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Detroit's winter trade with Milwaukee that brought outfielder Billy Bruton, catcher Dick Brown, pitcher Terry Fox and infielder Chuck Cottier for Frank Bolling may turn out to be the steal of the year.

All four ex-Braves played important roles in the Tigers' 2 triumph over Cleveland Wednesday, lifting them into second place in the American League, one game in back of the surprising Minnesota Twins.

Bruton rapped a pair of singles and scored Detroit's first two runs. Brown also had two singles. Cottier drove in the final run of the Tigers' winning four-run rally in the eighth. Fox got credit for the Tiger victory.

The most important blow, however, was delivered by Steve Boros. The rookie third baseman cracked a three-run double off reliever Frank Funk to spoil the Indians' home opener. Three bases on balls set the stage for Boros' game-winning blow.

In the only other game played in the American League, Washington defeated the Chicago White Sox 7-2. Rain forced the postponement of the Minnesota-Red Sox game in Boston, and the Los Angeles-Yankee game in New York and Kansas City at Baltimore.

In the National League the Los Angeles Dodgers scored a 7-2 victory over St. Louis. Pittsburgh defeated Chicago 4-1 and Cincinnati beat San Francisco 4-2. The Milwaukee at Philadelphia game was rained out.

Marty Kutyna, a pickup from Kansas City last December, pitched six scoreless relief innings against the White Sox, and singled across two runs in the fourth to give the Senators a 4-2 lead. He yielded only four hits after replacing starter Ed Hobaugh in the third to get the victory.

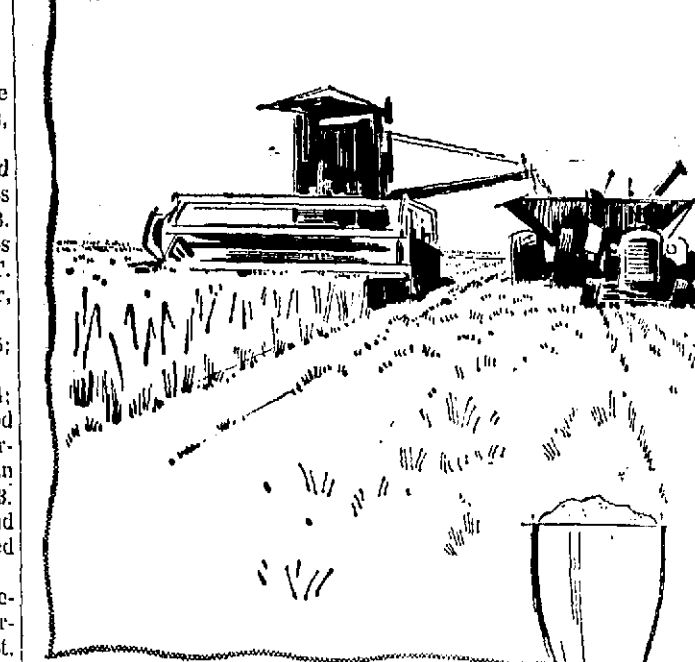

Billy Pierce, who yielded for a pinchhitter in the fourth, was the White Sox starter and loser.

LET'S TALK ARKANSAS

a glass of beer is many things

Arkansans talk about our rice fields with a touch of pride... the annual rice harvest is one of the State's largest agricultural assets. Our folks like to reminisce about the ducks that come to our rice fields every year, and enjoy a light, refreshing glass of beer while reminiscing. And beer is much more than refreshment... our national breweries annually buy more than 150,000,000 pounds of Arkansas rice to be used in the brewing of beer. This is just one of the many important ways in which beer and ale contribute to our economy, our Arkansas way of life.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

A life-saving project for fish has resulted in the rescue of approximately 515,000 game fish, weighing nearly 60,000 pounds, in Minnesota shallow lakes since October.

Fish are taken by the Department of Conservation's fisheries section from shallow lakes in which the oxygen content is insufficient to support fish life, and transferred to larger lakes where they have greater chances for survival.

The oxygen depletion results from the thickening of the ice, often covered with a layer of snow, to such an extent that light cannot penetrate to the plant life.

Deprived of sunlight, the plants become dormant and discontinue giving off oxygen. The fish life, which must have oxygen in the water to live, is then forced to survive on the backlog of oxygen stored in the water from the time when conditions were more favorable. When this stored oxygen is used up, fish invariably die. This phenomenon is called winterkill.

Grain Bill to Cut Down Storage Cost

One of the major objectives of the 1961 feed grain bill is to cut down on the cost of storing the huge surplus of corn and grain sorghums.

Calvin J. Caldwell, County Agent, says that the program will save taxpayers as much as $500 million in storage costs on a national basis.

This savings would be made possible by the program's plan to use surplus corn and other feed grains now in government storage to help farmers cut 1961 production to an amount more in line with needs. Cooperating farmers will divert 20 to 40 percent of their 1959-60 acreage of corn and grain sorghum to soil-conserving uses. They will be paid for this cut in certificates for surplus grain, which the government will sell for them if they like.

Caldwell quotes Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman who said that the feed grain program will: 1. Help increase farm income. 2. Help assure the consumer a continuation of fair and stable prices for meat, poultry and dairy products. 3. Reduce ultimate costs to taxpayers by about $500 million. 4. Prevent further buildup of the feed grain surplus and possibly reduce it.

"The non-cooperator will miss out on quite a few benefits," says Calvin Caldwell, county agent. He points out that the non-cooperator will not be eligible for price support on corn, grain sorghums, oats, barley, or rye of the 1961 crop. "And this could be a pretty important factor considering the present high surplus of feed grains," Caldwell says.

Here's how it works, according to Cecil Guthrie, ASC office manager:

Cooperators who want to receive the cash equivalent of grain at the support price may ask CCC to act as their agent in marketing their grain. As agent for the producer, CCC will advance the payment to the producer in cash through the county ASC office and subsequently market the grain.

Of course, the non-cooperator gets nothing but the market price, whatever it may be. The non-cooperating farmer is not only ineligible for feed grain price supports and payments, he

GROWING TOO FAST

KARACHI (AP)—A recent government survey found Pakistan's population is increasing at the rate of five babies every minute. It warned that economic difficulties are ahead unless the rate of gain is reduced.

Over the last 10 years the country's population has increased from 75.9 million to 82.2 million. The official survey said the increase wiped out economic advances made under the nation's first five-year plan (1955-56) and warned that unless it is controlled there can be little net gain in the second plan. The government is now pressing a birth control program.

It has been a long dream — started in 1920 by a small group of far-sighted Arkansans and Oklahomans. And it was for a long period a fruitless and frustrating dream.

But men such as Clarence T. Bryns, editor of the Fort Smith Southwest American and Times Record had seen big steamboats on the Arkansas River and they were determined to see them again.

Bryns was a member of the original bi-state group which first began planning Congress for funds to develop the Arkansas River four decades ago. Today Bryns heads a tri-state committee (Kansas joined in 1956), which has taken responsibility for keeping the financial pump primed in Washington.

"We've been much more effective since the three states joined together," Bryns said. "Now we're able to make a single presentation backed by the weight of three states — all dedicated to the same purpose. Congressional committees now hear only the one story. They don't have to sift information from several groups."

The effectiveness of the group is clearly demonstrated in appropriations for the Arkansas River project. The figure jumped from $4 million in 1957 to $18 million in 1958 to $31 million in 1959 to $44 million in 1960 to $57 million for the current fiscal year. And the Kennedy administration budget calls for an appropriation of $80 million during fiscal 1962.

"We got everything we asked for this year," Bryns said. "But we'll be increasing our effort every year to get to the money peak. We'll be needing more than $100 million a year before the project is completed."

Col. A. M. Jacoby, who as Army engineer for the Little Rock district has directed most of the program for the past three years, sees two major turning points in the old fight to develop the river.

The first came in 1956 when Congress turned its back on the Budget Bureau and voted funds for construction on three dams in Oklahoma and the Dardanelle dam

Arkansas R. Tideline for Industry

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas River is a tideline for an industrial empire rivaling the Ohio River Valley.

That's the dream of the men who promoted and Army Engineers who planned the multipurpose river development program scheduled for completion in 1973.

It has been a long dream — started in 1920 by a small group of far-sighted Arkansans and Oklahomans. And it was for a long period a fruitless and frustrating dream.

But men such as Clarence T. Bryns, editor of the Fort Smith Southwest American and Times Record had seen big steamboats on the Arkansas River and they were determined to see them again.

Bryns was a member of the original bi-state group which first began planning Congress for funds to develop the Arkansas River four decades ago. Today Bryns heads a tri-state committee (Kansas joined in 1956), which has taken responsibility for keeping the financial pump primed in Washington.

"We've been much more effective since the three states joined together," Bryns said. "Now we're able to make a single presentation backed by the weight of three states — all dedicated to the same purpose. Congressional committees now hear only the one story. They don't have to sift information from several groups."

The effectiveness of the group is clearly demonstrated in appropriations for the Arkansas River project. The figure jumped from $4 million in 1957 to $18 million in 1958 to $31 million in 1959 to $44 million in 1960 to $57 million for the current fiscal year. And the Kennedy administration budget calls for an appropriation of $80 million during fiscal 1962.

"We got everything we asked for this year," Bryns said. "But we'll be increasing our effort every year to get to the money peak. We'll be needing more than $100 million a year before the project is completed."

Col. A. M. Jacoby, who as Army engineer for the Little Rock district has directed most of the program for the past three years, sees two major turning points in the old fight to develop the river.

The first came in 1956 when Congress turned its back on the Budget Bureau and voted funds for construction on three dams in Oklahoma and the Dardanelle dam in Arkansas. For the preceding six years, Congress had released money for emergency bank stabilization.

Jacoby says the second turning point came in 1960 when, for the first time, Congress provided bank stabilization funds on a non-emergency basis.

An intermediate turning point came two years ago, Jacoby says, when Congress decided to add a lock to the Dardanelle dam.

"This was the first direct recognition by Congress of the navigation phase of the overall project," Jacoby said. "Then, last year, Congress decided to let us start on bank stabilization work that will be needed in the navigation phase."

First plans for the Dardanelle dam called for construction only of the dam section with the lock portion to be added later. "The fight for money for the lock was one of Jacoby's first tasks after he was assigned here."

Navigation is the major cost benefit in the overall project; thus it is the key to the entire program, since Congress had to be convinced that expenditure of an estimated $1.2 billion on the project was economically justifiable.

Army Engineers estimated the cash benefits of a developed river at $64.5 million a year. Of this, $40.5 is attributed to navigation, $9.3 from power generating facilities, $7.2 million from flood control, $6.6 million from reclaiming of overflow land and $1 million from water storage and recreation.

Segments of the project already underway represent $468 million of the total expenditure of $1.2 billion. This is the largest water development program underway in the country today.

At present the river plan calls for 19 navigation locks and dams on the 450-mile stretch of river from Caloosa, Okla., to the Mississippi River. The upper 52 miles of the waterway is located on the Verdigris River, rather than the Arkansas.

The Verdigris branch was written into the plan because that route would bring the navigation channel within 15 miles of Tulsa with only three locks and dams above the confluence of the Arkansas and Verdigris. It would have required 11 locks and dams to take the channel direct to Tulsa via the Arkansas.

The overall program is subject to change—at the financial will of Congress and at the planning will of the Engineers. Last year, for example, Engineers discovered a way to eliminate five locks and dams from the overall project, which had called for 24 such facilities.

Included in the overall project are six storage dams and reservoirs on tributaries in Oklahoma. These are the Oolagah, Eufaula, Keystone, Fort Gibson, Pensacola and Tenkiller Dams. The Pensacola Dam is a non-federal project.

These facilities are vital both to flood control and navigation features of the project—Flood control because the bulk of the water carried by the Arkansas falls in Oklahoma and navigation because they will trap Oklahoma sediment and keep it from filling in the navigation channel once it is constructed.

Sediment, which gradually filled in the river through the years, brought an end to oldtime navigation early in this century.

The various groups which have promoted Arkansas River development were stymied first by World War II and later by the Korean conflict.

The first planning study of the river for development purposes authorized in 1939, but the war held up a report until 1945. In 1946, Congress authorized the project but it didn't get off the ground until the 1956 financial breakthrough.

"It is logical to contemplate a future for this valley comparable to the Ohio River Valley, where $15 billion worth of industrial plants have been built since World War II," Jacoby said. "If predictions come true, we can see a day when Arkansas will truly be the Land of Opportunity."

Chicken and Beef Good Market Buys

Fruit Cocktail Trifle

Bring out your prettiest glass bowl for "Fruit Cocktail Trifle." Layers of juicy canned fruit cocktail and velvety stirred custard are surrounded by lady fingers. Serve with additional lady fingers, if you like.

Drain 1 (1 lb. 1 oz.) can fruit cocktail, reserving syrup. Beat 2 eggs with 1/4 cup sugar and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Add 1/2 cups milk, and cook and stir over hot water until thickened. Remove from heat. Blend in 1/2 teaspoon vanilla; cool. Split 10 to 12 lady fingers, spread with 1/4 cup orange marmalade and sprinkle with 2 tablespoons dessert wine or syrup from fruit cocktail. Line glass serving bowl with the lady fingers. Fill with alternate layers of cooled custard and fruit cocktail, ending with fruit cocktail. Chill thoroughly. Makes 6 servings.

This dessert is festive, delicious, and easy as one...two...three. The cake can be from the bakery, or made from a mix. The berries, fresh and brimming with bright flavor, are on the market now. And the fluffy swirls of frosting are made from a convenient dessert topping mix that whips quickly and surely adds flavor and luscious texture to this special dessert.

Strawberry Angel Cake

2 envelopes (4 oz. package) dessert topping mix
1 cup cold milk
1/2 teaspoon almond extract

1 baked (10-inch) angel food cake
1 pint fresh strawberries (sweetened, if desired)

Combine dessert topping mix, milk, and almond extract. Stir to blend. Then beat vigorously with rotary egg beater or electric mixer just until topping forms soft peaks.

Cut angel food cake horizontally into 3 layers. Fill and frost cake with prepared dessert topping mix. Chill until ready to serve. Then fill center of cake with strawberries. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

THE SORY: Max Daney, a wealthy young man, received a wire from a former girl friend called "Dixie" saying that she is coming to visit him. Max is to be married to Laura Reynolds. Max asks Jim Bennett to help straighten out the embarrassing situation. Then Dixie arrives.

CHAPTER III

Max was standing by a window peering down. My corner room had two windows, a wide one facing the lake and beach and a smaller one in the adjoining wall overlooking the drive and garage. I crossed to his window, stood beside Max and followed his gaze. Below us in the drive a girl was getting out of a taxicab.

Below us I saw Cecil cross the drive standing by the taxi. I said, "I assume Cecil knows the score?"

"Yes, I told him."

"Maybe he can handle it."

Cecil didn't handle it. He tried, I could see that, but it was useless. He spoke to the girl, smiling and moving his hands apologetically. She shook her head firmly, opened the purse and paid the taxi driver. The taxi took off, heading back for the highway. The girl closed the purse and strode toward the house. Cecil stood a moment, watching her, chewing on his lower lip. Then he lifted his shoulders helplessly, nodded at George and the three of them moved out of our sight.

"She's coming in," Max said miserably.

I felt sorry for him and took charge. After all, he was my friend and both of us were still in the fraternity of bachelors.

"Where's your mother?" I asked him.

"In her room. Cecil said. She probably took a sleeping capsule—she takes one every afternoon. Max lit a cigarette with trembling hands. "Mother will be no problem."

"All right, I said. "Call Cecil and tell him to stick to his story that you're not here. Tell him to tip off George and Florine and Doris. Do that right now."

Max went to the phone instantly. While he was talking, I thought of Sandy. She should be in on the plot before she came in contact with Dixie. As Max cradled the phone, I said, "Stay here, and went out and down the hall to Sandy's room."

Just as I reached her door, she emerged carrying a rolled-up towel, which, I assumed, contained her bathing suit. She had changed to white Bermuda shorts, a dark blue short-sleeved blouse and beaded moccasins. She gazed at me wide-eyed, and looked so healthy that I wanted to kiss her. But I restrained myself, put a finger to my lips, gently pushed her back into the room and closed the door. Her expression was puzzled.

"Listen, I said. "Max is in my room, hiding out. It looks as if his dissolute past is catching up with him. A chick named Dixie has just arrived, bag and baggage. I don't know if she is aware that Max is being married on Monday and that his true love is arriving tonight, but I have promised to go to bat for Max. Anyhow, Max is not supposed to be here. Remember that when you meet Dixie."

"But that's silly, Sandy said. "Why doesn't Max just explain and send her away?"

"It seems that he can't, or won't, for reasons as yet unknown to me. I'll try and get the low-down. You just play dumb. Okay?"

"Okay, Sandy said. "So I go swimming alone?"

"For now, yes."

"Gee. Some gay weekend."

I patted her cheek and returned to my room. Max was sitting on the edge of the bed, smoking another cigarette. "I tipped off Sandy, I said, closing the door."

"Dixie's downstairs, he said bleakly. "Cecil can't budge her."

"This is your problem, I said. "Why don't you face up to it?"

"I can't, Jim," he said abjectly. "I just can't."

"Why not?"

"It—it's a long story. I don't want to discuss it. Just get rid of her."

I strolled to an armchair, sat down, leaned back, extended my legs and folded my arms. "We have two hours. Let's hear that long story."

It took him about five minutes. When he finished, I said, "Okay, I think I have the picture. The girl's name is Dixie McQueen. You met her in Chicago about a month ago. Julius Stockmaster was autographing copies of his new book, Laura Reynolds, your bride-to-be, who asked you to be nice to him, since you happened to be in Chicago at the same time. So you arranged a cocktail party for Stockmaster in your hotel suite."

"Dixie McQueen came in, bought a book and asked you to inscribe it. She was little and cute and you played a deaf-mute act, and signed Stockmaster's name in her book and also penned an invitation to the cocktail party. She was thrilled. About that time the store officials got wise and put an end to the autograph party. You and the girl got a big laugh out of it."

CHAPTER IV

I gazed at the ceiling. "Her family lives on a farm near Rockford, Ill. She attended business school in Chicago and got a job there in a bank as a clerk-typist. She mentioned to you that she was soon due for her annual vacation. You threw caution to the proverbial winds, told her sincerely that you wanted your mother to meet her and invited her to visit at your home during her vacation. She accepted. You did not bother to tell her that your mother was in Paris. But still she wouldn't play the way you wanted her to play. You admitted defeat then and came home, neglecting to cancel your invitation. I sighed, lowered my gaze to Max and shook my head reprovingly."

"I was sure she had finally realized I was handling her a line."

"It serves you right, I said. "What was the idea p laying around when you were engaged to Laura?"

"I'm not married yet," he said defensively.

"Well, Dixie is here. Your fiancée is arriving tonight. And the wedding is Monday. Either that little Dixie gal is awfully naive—or smarter than you thought. Did you, by chance, in your ardor, mention marriage to her?"

"I might have mentioned it. I gazed up at the ceiling and spoke musingly. "Breach of promise."

"Jim, put away the needle. Are you going to help me, or aren't you?"

"It's your problem, I said. "The thing for you to do is to face her and tell her the truth."

"I can't."

"Ashamed? I asked gently. He nodded. "Maybe, a little. She's really—well, nice."

"Didn't you hear from her before today? Maybe a note confirming the visit?"

"A letter came last week. I was gone then, you know, and didn't see it until this afternoon."

I smiled at him. "I'll do my best."

"Be kind to her, he said in a low voice, "but get her to leave. Tell her anything. I'm not here. I was called away on business. I will write her, I'm sorry. Tell her."

"That you love her? I said softly."

For a moment he didn't speak. He fiddled with a gold cigarette lighter and then looked up at me with haunted eyes. "I'm marrying Laura."

I watched him a moment and then said, "It's too late to call off with Laura?"

He seemed to shiver. "Yes. But Mother would love it if I did. She hates Laura."

"What about you?"

"I'm going to marry her," he said flatly. "In Sarasota it seemed the right thing to do—before I met Dixie. I can't back out now."

"You could, if you really wanted to. It would be a mess, but you could do it."

"No, Max said. "Okay, I'll try and ease Dixie out of your life." At the top of the long, curving stair I paused, adjusted the knot of my tie, snapped down my cuffs and then descended sedately. I did not have the slightest idea how I would handle it."

She was leafing a magazine and did not see me enter. I said, "Good afternoon."

She looked up, startled. She had a small round face, a short little nose, and a red mouth which was almost, but not quite, too large for her face. The pixie hairdo accentuated the elfin quality of her features and her eyes were a clear amber. She placed the magazine on the table and stood up.

"Hello," she said nervously, and her gaze shifted past me to the far end of the room, as if she hoped and expected to see Max Daney entering behind me.

"Has—has Max—Mr. Daney arrived yet?"

"No, Miss," I smiled at her. "My name is Bennett. I'm a friend of Max's." I moved forward and held out a hand. She took it as a man would, not a limp touch of fingers, but a firm handshake.

"I'm Caroline McQueen," she said. "Has Max told you about me?"

"Yes, he has," I said, still holding her hand and gazing at her with what I hoped was a sincere expression, "but he called you Dixie."

"That's a nickname," she said seriously. "You see, I was born in Richmond and with a name like Caroline, my friends began calling me Dixie."

"I get it," I said. "Both are nice names. If I call you Dixie, will you call me Jim?"

"Sure," she said. Her eyes were suddenly friendly. They were

Editors to Hear Kennedy, Cabinet

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and six of his Cabinet officers will address the American Society of Newspaper Editors at its annual meeting here this week.

The President will address a luncheon session on Thursday. His news secretary, Pierre Salinger, will take part in a Thursday morning panel discussion on "The new presidential press conference."

Nearly 750 editors of daily newspapers are expected to attend the session, which runs from Wednesday through Saturday. The ASNE meeting frequently has been used in the past as a forum for major policy speeches.

The editors will hear talks by Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff, Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges, Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

A Few Facts From World of Science

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Exploding stars, raindrops and the pulse of a volcano are topics of scientific news:

Cooked Worlds?

Astronomers recently detected two nova—two stars which suddenly exploded in glowing light and heat and other energy. A nova later subsides to its former faintness.

But the sudden, rapid expansion could well have burned or cooked any nearby planets and all their living things or "people."

Whether this happened in the case of the two stars can only be a matter of speculation, since no one can know if they ever had planets. The novae were detected by Drs. Jason J. Nassau and Charles B. Stephenson of Case Institute of Technology.

Ready to Blow

Taking the pulse of a volcano, experts predict that Kilauea volcano in Hawaii is building up to another major eruption.

It has been re-inflating itself with magma or molten material from deep in the earth. Another sign is swarms of tiny, shallow earthquakes similar to those preceding major eruptions in 1955 and 1960.

But the exact date for an eruption cannot be foretold, say scientists at the Geological Survey Hawaiian Volcano Observatory.

Raindrop Barrage

The biggest raindrops usually fall at the start of a storm. Winds are the main reason. The larger drops are less affected by winds; hence fall more vertically, while smaller drops are blown out of vertical path, explain Prof. A. Nelson Dingle and Kenneth R. Hardy, University of Michigan Meteorological Laboratory.

They add it takes about a million cloud droplets of average size to form one raindrop.

Color TV

Watching color TV is usually easier on a person's eyes than a black and white screen, says the Vision Conservation Institute.

But color TV helps spot some eye troubles which might otherwise pass unnoticed. For example, far-sighted persons usually can see blues and greens more clearly than red colors, and a blurring or distortion while viewing framed by thick lashes the color of chocolate. She released my hand and I saw that she was nervous and trying not to show it.

Says Business Should Trust Government

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Business should ask more and get more from government agencies instead of fearing that the climate in Washington has turned unfriendly.

That's the view of Luther Hartwell Hodges. He says one of his big tasks as secretary of commerce is to get businessmen to realize what his department can do for them and to make more use of these aids.

He concedes that the conservative element among businessmen—a quite large one—may distrust the course the Kennedy administration is plotting because of its spending implications. He hopes this fear of a larger federal debt, more inflation, perhaps higher taxes and more regulation can be overcome.

"It can be," Hodges holds, "if business will realize that while the Eisenhower policies centered on trying to balance the budget and curb inflation, the Kennedy policies are aimed at halting the slowdown in economic growth which resulted."

And Hodges says that the revision of the makeup of the Business Advisory Council and his expansion of its chores were both overdue and necessary.

Hodges also held, in an interview here Saturday, that the current first stirrings of business recovery are due in part, if only a psychological one so far, to what the Kennedy administration has started to do. He says this has given a lift to public confidence now just beginning to show up in the business statistics.

He insists this will show up more and more, and the statistics—industrial output, personal income, housing starts, retail trade—continue to rise.

Hodges says his first task, already far advanced, is to shake up and rejuvenate his department.

And then he must sell it to businessmen as a productive source of aid and information. He says the department's 33 field offices are working to help businessmen both in expanding their domestic markets and in pushing their export trade.

The secretary is leaving shortly for Europe in an effort to increase markets for U.S. goods, to whittle at remaining trade barriers against them, and to boost foreign tourist travel to this country.

"Americans now spend a billion dollars more a year abroad than foreign tourists do here," he points out. "We're out to narrow that gap."

Prisoners Are Sentenced

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP)—Seven inmates or former inmates of Kentucky State Penitentiary who had pleaded guilty to falsely claiming income tax refunds while in prison were sentenced in federal court Monday.

Five were fined $100 each and probated for a year and a day on condition they repay the government; another was fined $250 and probated for a year and a day, and the seventh got two years in prison.

Wild Onions Not Good for Lawns

By BOB HARING
Associated Press Staff Writer

Onions are great for salads, hamburgers and such, but not for lawns and roadsides. Unfortunately, the onions seem to be appropriating more territory each year. And the onions doing the damage aren't even good for hamburgers. They're wild onions—technically known as Allium canadense. One authority calls the onion "the most diabolical lawn weed" and anybody who has ever tried to get rid of them will agree. They spread like gold fever and are virtually impossible to kill. Crabgrass is a sissy by comparison. Highways in many parts of the state look like onion paths. Some lawns resemble gardens and smell like tossed salads at mowing time. Arkansas isn't alone—most other southern and midwestern states have an abundance of onions, too. A man who's determined can pour on 2, 4-D, a highly potent weed killer, or some stuff called MH30 and MH40. The 2, 4-D will kill the onion tops—and eventually the bulbs—with repeated applications in spring and fall. The MH products—30 in granular form and 40 in liquid—will rot the bulbs. These products, of course, will destroy any handy flowers, too, and some types of grass. The Jonesboro Sun, which did some research on the project, offers another remedy—cut the tops off the onions and pour gasoline into the hollow stems. It costs more and takes more time, but it usually works. Or if that fails, the Sun said, "You might try dynamite. It won't kill the onions, but it will blow them over into your neighbor's yard."

A Pine Bluff man suffering from asthma went hunting for relief in the form of a spray vaporizer kept in the medicine cabinet. He sprayed his bedroom thoroughly, practically soaking his head with the stuff. Morning came and he felt fine—had a good night's sleep and just couldn't praise the vaporizer enough. When his wife went to straightening up the house after he had left for work, she found where he had left it, the vaporizer—a can of hair spray.

Also from Pine Bluff comes the story, which Jimmy Atkinson of the Commercial says is being told on Alvin Haustein, who manages a bank's bookkeeping department. Seems Haustein supervises about 30 women employees and in that job is faced with the usual turnover because of weddings, approaching babies, etc. Early this month he called 12 of his girls together to brief them on a new machine. All showed up wearing maternity dresses. Then they shouted: "April Fool."

J. W. Bragg of Marked Tree and Sir Winston Churchill, great former British prime minister, have something in common. Each has suffered the loss of a pet parakeet. When Bragg read that Churchill's parakeet, Toby, had been lost, he wrote to the World War II leader that "I knew just how he felt." Last week Bragg got a letter

Takes a Dim View of Lights

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—Better lighting for downtown San Jose may be a bright idea but Dr. A. E. Whitford takes a dim view of it. In a letter to the Downtown Merchants Association, Dr. Whitford—director of nearby Lick Observatory—explained that the proposal "would seriously hamper the effectiveness of the observatory's telescope." The observatory, atop Mt. Hamilton, is about seven miles from this Northern California city.

Law Day to Be Observed in County

May 1st has been proclaimed Law Day throughout the nation. The Hempstead County Bar Association in celebration of this day is sending speakers throughout the county. The schedule which the Hempstead County lawyers are to follow is as follows: Judge Lytle Brown will address the Jaycees at 7:30 p.m. on May 1. W. S. Atkins will be at Clow High School at about 9:30 in the morning and Yerger High School at 11:30. F. C. Crow will go to the Blevins colored school at 1:30 and at 2:45 will speak at the Blevins High School. Dr. Crow will also address the Rotary Club on April 28. Louis Crain will be at Lincoln High School at about 9:00 a.m., on the morning of May 1 and will also address the students at Guernsey High School on the same day. Talbot Field, Jr., will address the students at Spring Hill High School at 10:00 a.m., on May 1. James Pilkinton will address the Lion's Club at its regular meeting on Monday, May 1. Albert Graves will be the speaker at the Kiwanis Club on Tuesday, April 25. John L. Wilson will address the students of Hope High School at 8:30 and Saratoga High School at 10:30. Law Day is being celebrated throughout the United States to foster a deeper respect for the law; to encourage responsible citizenship, and to promote national strength and unity. It has been brought to the attention of the Prosecuting Attorney's office that some of the roads in Hempstead County are having pulpwood and other debris thrown in the ditches. Now it is against the law to obstruct ditches of public roads. Therefore, the Prosecuting Attorney's office feels that the general public should be reminded of this law and ask to cease throwing pulpwood or other objects into the ditches.

Arkansan Killed in Missouri

MONETT, Mo. (AP)—Two cars collided head-on on U.S. Highway 60 seven miles east of here Monday, killing William Madoc, 61, of Gravette, Ark., and injuring three other persons. Hurt were Taylor Lewis, 20, driver of the car in which Madoc was riding; Robert Lyon, 20, Nebo, Mo., driver of the other car, and James Hancock, 20, a passenger in Lyon's car. None of the three was seriously hurt. From Churchill's private secretary thanking him for his note.

That Old Devil Egg!

Deviled eggs are well liked and adapt to all types of menus, and can be as simple or as elaborate as the maker chooses. Most people agree, however, that Tabasco is the proper seasoning. Ham and eggs are a natural combination so try this recipe for hard cooked eggs and canned deviled ham for use all spring and summer. Save a few cardboard egg cartons so that you will have handy containers ready when you want to take hard cooked or deviled eggs on an outing. Wrap them in clear plastic and put back in carton for neat and safe carrying.

Ham Deviled Eggs

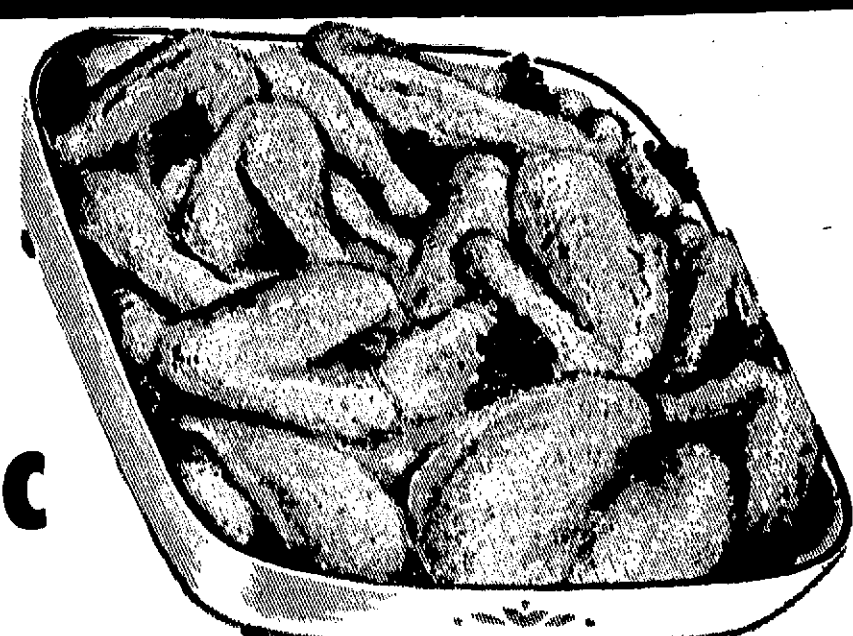

8 hard cooked eggs
1 can (4 1/2 ounces) deviled ham
1/4 cup mayonnaise
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 teaspoon Tabasco
Chives, finely cut (optional)

Shell eggs; cool. Halve eggs lengthwise. Carefully remove yolks; mash or press through a sieve. Add remaining ingredients and beat until fluffy. Refill whites. If desired, garnish with chives. Yld: 8 servings.

Arkansas Future Week Starts May 1

How can Arkansas grow? How can Arkansas improve its educational system? How much welfare service is desirable . . . for whom?

These are among the many questions of basic importance to the future of Arkansas that will be discussed in the "Arkansas Future" series discussion program which begins the week of May 1 and continues for four weeks, says County Agent Calvin J. Caldwell.

The program is being carried on throughout the state by the Agricultural Extension Service of the University of Arkansas as one means of helping citizens to become better informed on the important issues facing Arkansas as the 1960's begin.

The discussion sessions, which are self-administered in that each group organizes and runs its own weekly meetings, are not designed to reach a group decision on the topics discussed. Each member of a group obtains a set of fact sheets from the county Extension office which he uses to stimulate discussion. The fact sheets present only basic information in an unbiased, non-partisan manner.

In today's modern society, says County Agent Calvin Caldwell, questions involving public policy and taxation are so complex and involved that it requires real study on the part of the citizen if he is to be informed and have the facts on which to make intelligent decisions.

The "Arkansas Future" program offers a unique but tested way for the citizen to get the unbiased facts on which he can form his own opinions, he said.

The program is open to all persons who are interested in Arkansas' future and anyone may start a discussion group with from five to ten of his neighbors and friends, Mr. Caldwell said.

Fact sheets are available at the county Extension office so that groups may get organized and be ready to hold their first discussion session the week of May 1.

Further information on the program is also available at your county Extension office. Ask for a copy of the folder, "You and Arkansas' Future," which explains the entire program.

4 Die in Fire

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Four children, ranging in age from 2 to 5, died Monday night in a fire which swept their three-story home.

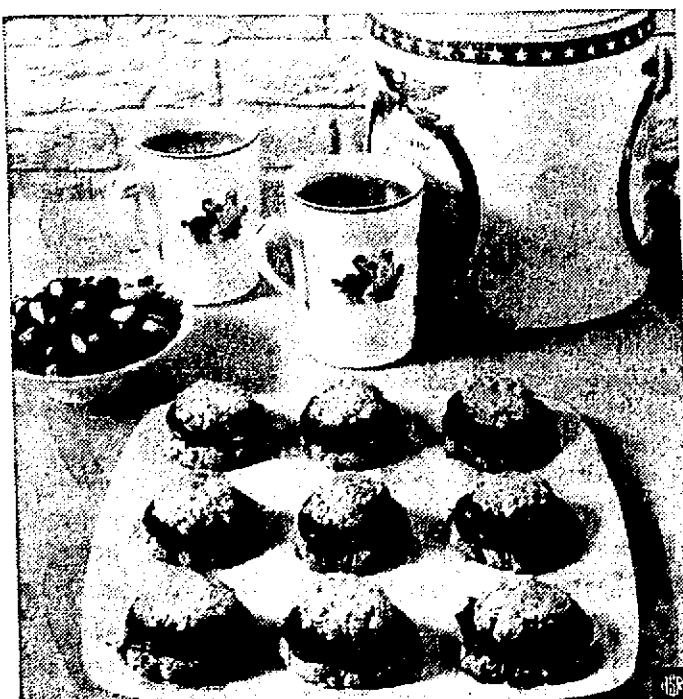

The victims were Richard Heckstall, 5; his brother, Charles, 2; and two sisters, Ernestine, 3, and Cheryl, 4.

All were Negroes.

Firemen found their bodies in a third-floor bedroom. Authorities all four apparently suffocated.

They were the children of Marie Heckstall, 28. Her husband, Ernest, 32, said he and his wife were separated.

Pickaback Cookies Give Snacktime Lift

A new type of cookie comes out of the cookie jar to make snacktime a complete success. It's called a Chocolate Pickaback and it combines two of America's favorite cookie ingredients, chocolate and oatmeal. The crisp oatmeal base supports a creamy chocolate filling, and a smaller oatmeal cookie goes for a ride on top.

Semi-sweet chocolate morsels, the nuggets that made Toll House cookies famous, turn into a rich-tasting, de luxe filling. These versatile morsels, which can be eaten just as they come from the package, melt smoothly over hot water. Combined with cream cheese, they make a soft mixture that contrasts nicely with the crisp cookies. The chocolate and oatmeal flavors are on excellent terms, too.

Pickaback Cookies
 1/2 cup shortening
 1/2 cup sugar
 1 egg
 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
 1/2 cup sifted flour
 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1 1/2 cups rolled oats
 1/2 cup chopped nuts

Cream together shortening, sugar, egg and vanilla. Sift in flour, soda and salt. Add oats and nuts. Mix well. Form into equal numbers of 1-inch and 3/4-inch balls. Place on ungreased cookie sheet and flatten with spatula or bottom of glass dipped in flour. Bake in a moderate oven (375°F.) 10 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool. Spread Chocolate Filling on large cookies; top with small cookies.

Chocolate Filling
 1 6-ounce package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels
 1/2 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
 1 tablespoon water
 1 package (3 ounces) soft cream cheese

Melt semi-sweet chocolate morsels with confectioners' sugar and water over hot (not boiling) water. Blend in cream cheese; beat until smooth. Cool. Yield: Approximately 3 dozen cookies.

Painsett Trying to Save Seat

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Supreme Court has authorized the Poinsett County legislative delegation to intervene in two lawsuits contesting a reapportionment plan for the Arkansas House.

The Poinsett legislators want to defend the plan because under it their county would continue to have two House members. Miller County would gain one member and Mississippi County would lose one.

If the lawsuits are successful, Poinsett would lose a representative.

Latest Device to Detect and Kill Subs

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Radio-controlled drone helicopters armed with homing torpedoes. Search devices that can bounce a sub-seeking signal off the ocean floor. Missiles able to kill nuclear submarines at ranges up to about eight miles.

These are a few of the detection instruments and weapons, some with a lethal atomic punch which the Navy says it can use—or soon will have ready—if called on to repel the Communist world's 450-submarine force.

Rear Adm. Lloyd M. Mustin, head man in Navy Antisubmarine Warfare (ASW), claims U. S. antisub capability is very good. He says there are some new "dramatic" means, still cloaked in secrecy.

The admiral contends "the quality of this equipment is more than adequate" to deal with the greatly increased problem that will develop when the Soviets add a sizable number of nuclear craft to their already potent sub fleet powered by conventional fuels.

To prepare for that day, U. S. Antisubmarine Warfare teams have been testing hunt-and-kill techniques against U. S. atomic subs.

As Mustin views it, the pressing need is to acquire a new ASW tools in quantity—"there is no substitute for numbers in antisubmarine warfare," he argues.

The Navy has an active fleet of 817 remaining from World War II—and more than 6,900 planes. Forty-five per cent of the ships and 14 per cent of the planes are primarily devoted to antisubmarine tasks.

The control ship of a hunter-killer task force is a carrier fitted with complicated electronic equipment enabling the commander to coordinate and direct the attack. The United States has 9 ASW carriers and 14 attack carriers that can be used for operations against subs.

Joining in the hunt are twin-engine carrier-borne tracker planes which can search thousands of square miles of open sea, watching for telltale signs of a snorkel poking above the waves or dropping sonar buoys to detect the sounds of subs running submerged.

Also brought into play are helicopters, often operating in teams of two. Navy experts say one chopper can track a lurking sub by means of a sonar ball dipped through sound-distorting temperature variations in the water, while the other moves in with a depth charge or torpedo.

The real work-horses are high-speed destroyers with long-range sonar and a variety of torpedoes and depth charges, some rocket-fired for greater range.

The Navy has high hopes for a new turbine-powered drone helicopter called Dash (for destroyer antisub helicopter). This small chopper can be sent out after a fix is obtained on a sub and ordered by radio to drop a pattern of torpedoes on the quarry. It can carry 1,000 pounds of payload. The first of this model are due to fly this summer.

Then there is ASROC, which is a four-part system including underwater sonar, an electronic fire control computer, an eight-mile missile launcher and the solid-fuel missiles themselves.

A total of 150 ships is due to be armed with ASROC systems War II.

LONG CALL FOR HELP

HONOLULU (AP) — The Honolulu Fire Department has answered the longest call in its history—2,300 miles.

It wasn't a fire, but a call for help from the Federal Aviation Agency on Wake Island. The FAA complained that there were no trained first-aid personnel on the island.

The fire department sent first-aid expert Lt. Boniface Aliu to Wake to give Red Cross courses to 83 FAA employees.

within the next few years.

Another powerful weapon, still in development, is the SUBROC, a guided missile designed to be fired from torpedo tubes of a submerged submarine, or from the surface. It travels through the air to re-enter the water for the kill.

Now in use is the "Betty." An airborne atomic depth charge with a kill potential up to several miles from the point of detonation. The Navy says it virtually can eliminate wolf pack concentrations of submarines, like those used by the Germans in World War II.

Raps ICBM Launching Sites Upwind

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Arizona scientist says that placing ICBM launching sites "upwind" of at least nine major cities means "nearly certain death for an additional three or four million Americans" if the United States is attacked.

The scientist, Dr. J. E. McDonald of the University of Arizona's Institute of Atmospheric Physics, said the launching sites are certain to be "targets of the heaviest nuclear attack in the opening minutes of any sneak attack."

In a paper prepared for a joint meeting of the American Meteorological Society and the American Geophysical Union, McDonald said the situation presents "horrendous civil defense hazards" and makes "the issue on that must be given the most high level scrutiny at once."

McDonald said the following

Ex-CC Manager Dies at L.R.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — August Probst Sr., 84, a one-time messenger boy who became secretary-manager of the Little Rock Cotton Exchange, died today in a hospital here.

He retired in 1938 after 40 years of connection with the cotton business in Arkansas.

A native of Murniswil, Switzerland, he came to this country at the age of 9 and began his business life at 12 as a messenger boy for the Little Rock Board of Trade. In the early 1890s he became secretary of the Retail Grocers Association and in 1898 was appointed assistant secretary to the Board of Trade's Cotton Committee.

When the Cotton Exchange was organized in 1916, he became its secretary.

He also helped found a German language newspaper, the Arkansas Echo.

Survivors include a son, August Probst Jr., business manager of The Guardian, publication of the

New Feed Grain Plan Explained

County Agent Calvin J. Caldwell offers this brief description of the 1961 Feed Grain Program. It's a voluntary program enacted by Congress to meet the mounting threat of feed grain surpluses.

How to Take Part

To cooperate, here's what you do:

1. Divert to approved soil conserving use at least 20 percent of the average 1959-60 acreage (1960) you had in corn and grain sorghum.
2. You may divert 20 acres if that is more than 20 percent, but not more than the farm base.
3. If you wish, divert up to an additional 20 percent for added payment.
4. If you're interested in taking part, details are available at your county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Office.

What You Receive

You receive two benefits:

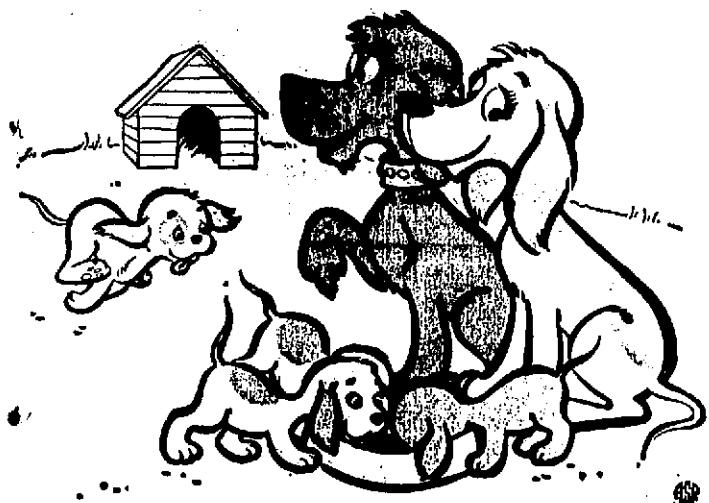

1. You become eligible for support prices on the normal production of 1961 corn and grain sorghums and on the other three feed grains. These 1961 supports are higher than in 1960.
 2. You get a payment for each acre diverted.
- On the first 20 percent diverted, your payment will reflect half of your normal production, at the 1961 county support rate. On additional acreage diverted up to 40 percent of your base, your payment will reflect 60 percent of your normal production, at the 1961 county support rate. On acreage above 40 percent of the base (or small farms) the payment will be at 50 percent of your normal production.
- And Mr. Caldwell adds, on the acres you divert, you'll get cash money now, up to one-half the payment for your farm.
- You'll get income, regardless of growing conditions and crop outcome.
- You'll save on diverted acres the specific costs of fertilizing, preparing ground, planting, cultivating, and harvesting, plus some labor savings.
- Your payment will be a negotiable certificate for grain. The ASC office will give you cash and have the grain marketed if you wish.
- Caldwell says there is no penalty for the non-cooperator.
- However, the non-cooperator does not qualify for support on 1961 crop—corn, grain sorghum, oats, barley, or rye.
- He will have to depend on the market prices, whatever they may be and he'll get no payments on land diverted to conservation uses under the 1961 feed grain program.

Uprising Watched

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Former President Fulgencio Batista said today he is following the Cuban uprising with keen interest but will only comment when the situation is clearer.

Batista's government collapsed Jan. 1, 1959 under the attacks of Fidel Castro's forces. He has been living in exile in the Madeira Islands.

Food Sense—Not Nonsense

"It's No Fun To Eat Alone"

It's inhuman to eat alone. A dog knows this. Teen-agers don't like it either. At the recent National Youth Congress in Chicago, delegates frankly confessed they would like to eat dinner with their families. And, they confessed, they are not apt to eat the right foods when they eat alone.

Such views may startle parents. So may this report from a pretty teen-age discussion leader: "Parents are not strict enough in forcing us to eat the right foods."

Adults and children alike, the teenagers said, tend to choose from only one or two food groups and ignore the others. The delegates adopted this remedy at the Congress: "We plan to concentrate on getting all four food groups (enriched or whole grain bread and cereal, meat or an alternate, milk or cheese, fruits and vegetables) and the right servings of each."

The delegates' ideas—and their dreams—were as clearly defined on the subject of the family and dinner. They would like dinner to be an occasion, one that might demand a clean shirt as well as clean hands. They would like a pleasant setting for dinner. They would like father to say grace. As the teenagers spelled out their solutions, they pleaded, "We need these helps from our families and the community."

- Family members should manage their time so they can eat together.
- Fathers should arrange to be home for dinner whenever possible.
- Activity leaders in the school and community should time meetings to allow for family dinners.
- The dinner hour should be flexible enough to permit pressing activities of individual members.

Teenagers at the Congress were willing to go to all lengths to achieve their goals—even to asking their parents to cooperate. After all, they said, "It's no fun to eat alone."

Spa to Vote on Bonds for Plant

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Hot Springs residents will vote at a special election on May 23 on a $1 million revenue bond issue for already-completed work at the plant of the National Rejectors, Inc., here.

Residents approved a $2.5 million bond issue for building the plant and then when cost exceeded original estimates National put its own money into the project.

If the proposed new issue is approved, it would replace the company money.

Both the original issue and the proposed issue are to be repaid by profits from the plant operation.

Omnibus Law Will Go to High Court

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Pulaski Chancellor Guy E. Williams has ruled Gov. Orval E. Faubus' $14.5 million omnibus law constitutional, but the Arkansas Supreme Court will have to make a final decision in the case.

Williams Tuesday swept aside the three main objections raised by Pulaski County Rep. J. H. Cottrell Jr. in his suit attacking the 1961 law. Attorneys for Cottrell acted immediately to appeal to the Supreme Court. The appeal may be filed today or Thursday.

Cottrell contended that the law: Violated a constitutional provision for separate appropriations bills; unlawfully delegated legislative authority to a State Construction Board created by the act, and failed to specify exact expenditures as required by the constitution.

Williams cited a Supreme Court decision on an 1899 construction law, which he said was similar to the 1961 omnibus act, in rejecting Cottrell's main challenge.

This decision, he said, held that the unity of an appropriation is not broken by appropriating for several specific objects.

The omnibus law, part of Faubus' $76 million state expenditures program, contains funds for a number of construction projects, plus appropriations for other items.

Williams noted that the Court which upheld the 1899 law contained two men who were delegates to the convention which drafted the 1874 constitution.

On Cottrell's second point, Williams said the omnibus law delegates broad powers to the construction board "but I doubt that such powers exceed the limitations of the constitution."

He rejected Cottrell's third argument, saying that it appeared to him that each appropriation was in exact amounts. The law permits certain transfers which are not specifically stated, he said, "but transfers are not appropriations."

Williams also referred to a 1929 Supreme Court decision saying that courts should give laws the benefit of the doubt in constitutional questions. "Giving the act the benefit of all reasonable doubt as to its validity, which it is our duty to do, we hold it is constitutional," the opinion said.

Williams also commented on the complexities of modern state financing and called the omnibus law "the product of sound plan-

Vaccination for Polio Necessary

Polio, at its lowest ebb in more than two decades, is still capable of killing or crippling in 1961, Laura Impson, chairman of the Hempstead County Chapter of The National Foundation, warned today.

"Based on last year's experience and the U. S. Public Health Service tabulations, it is clear that polio has not yet been beaten as a mass gripper, despite the fact that the extremely efficient Salk antipolio vaccine has been available in this country for the past six years."

Theme for the 1961 vaccination program is "Babies and Breadwinners," she said.

"This theme was selected to emphasize that 38 per cent of all children under 5 years are not fully vaccinated, and that, even worse, 63 per cent of men aged 20 to 40 are not properly protected to meet certain needs of our people."

"When one compares the financial condition of our state with the financial chaos in certain other states," Williams wrote, "one must be proud of our record."

On the other hand, Salk vaccine tested. In 1960 almost half the paralytic cases were babies and children under 5 years. Young adults who contracted the disease were among those most seriously paralyzed," the chairman said.

"Rhode Island, Maine, Maryland, South Carolina and Puerto Rico in 1960 experienced a resurgence of polio because clusters of persons did not get properly vaccinated."

"The truth is that such outbreaks could be virtually eliminated if people would merely get their full series of Salk shots. Yet, nearly 86,000,000 Americans under 40 have not taken the time to get even one shot."

"Within this group there is ample raw material for new epidemics."

The fact that a more easily administered and potent oral vaccine has been developed by Dr. Albert Sabin with March of Dimes funds should not prevent anyone from getting his Salk shots at once, Mrs. Impson said.

Due to the intricate and time-consuming manufacturing processes involved the oral live-virus vaccine is not expected to be available for use until after the 1961 polio season. "And by then," she continued, "more thousands of Americans may have been added to polio's list of killed and crippled."

On the other hand, Salk vaccine

Try to Measure Wind Conditions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration fired a sodium cloud 102 miles into the air above the Atlantic Ocean today in an effort to measure wind conditions.

The shot at 4:36 a.m. from the Wallops Island, Va., test center was made by a two-stage Nike-Asp rocket carrying aluminum thermite and sodium pellets.

The sodium cloud was ejected at 33 miles and floated a bright orange-yellow cloud up to 102 miles in the air.

NASA officials said the shot went perfectly, although the cloud was visible only about 10 minutes. Previous sodium clouds have lasted 15 minutes or more and some have been visible for hundreds of miles along the Atlantic seaboard.

is available in ample quantities to assure maximum possible protection for everyone during the forthcoming polio season this summer and fall, Mrs. Impson said, adding:

"It takes a period of many months to get a full series of Salk shots. The time to start is immediately so that those who are now unvaccinated can have the greatest possible protection."

SEC Maps Farms of Hempstead

If you see a man walking over your own or a neighbor's farm carrying a board and what sort of looks like a walking stick with a big corkscrew on the end, don't be alarmed.

The man is a soil scientist for the Soil Conservation Service. He and other trained men like him are busy these days making maps of Hempstead County farms.

These men are the "scouts" of the Soil Conservation Service. All recommendations made by the Service for the improvement of the soil are based on the soil and capability maps prepared by the soil scientist after a careful survey of the farm.

Scientists are usually thought of as men who spend most of their time in laboratories looking through microscopes, but the soil scientists carry their tools into the field and spend 80 percent of their time in the open.

Farmers often ask Charlie McCollum, soil scientist in the Hempstead County Soil Conservation District, if he is drilling for oil when they see him using his soil auger. He explains that he bores the hole to determine the depth and texture of the soil. This tells him the type of soil present and the amount of erosion that has taken place. By adding this information to the percentage of slope obtained with a hand level, he has the three factors by which the soil scientist classifies the land: soil, slope, and erosion.

"To develop an effective conservation plan, it is necessary to know what kind of soil washes away, and how much of it is already gone," Charlie McCollum says.

"Even within a single field there is often a big difference in soil and the extent of erosion because usually over a field there are steeper slopes from which practically all the topsoil has washed."

"A careful study and survey of the soil and erosion conditions on the farm has proved one of the most important steps in the whole farm approach of controlling erosion that is now being carried out by the Hempstead County Soil Conservation District."

"That is why detailed conservation surveys are first made of each farm in the district for which a conservation plan is to be developed," George F. Brown says.

Wilson Named Chief of Engineers

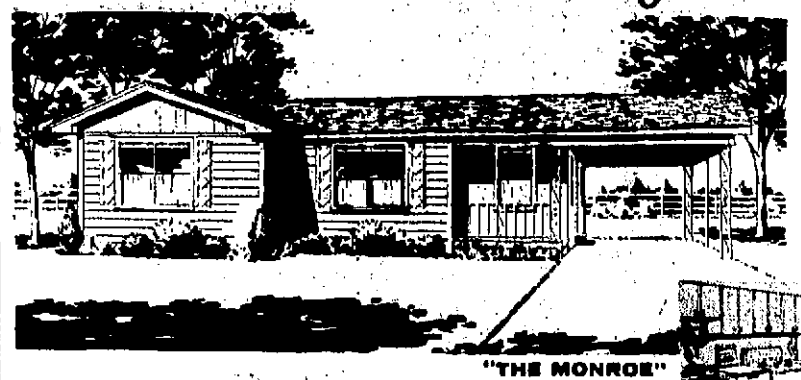

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today nominated Maj. Gen. Walter King Wilson to be chief of Army Engineers with the rank of lieutenant general.

Wilson now is commanding general of the Engineer Center at Ft. Belvoir, Va.

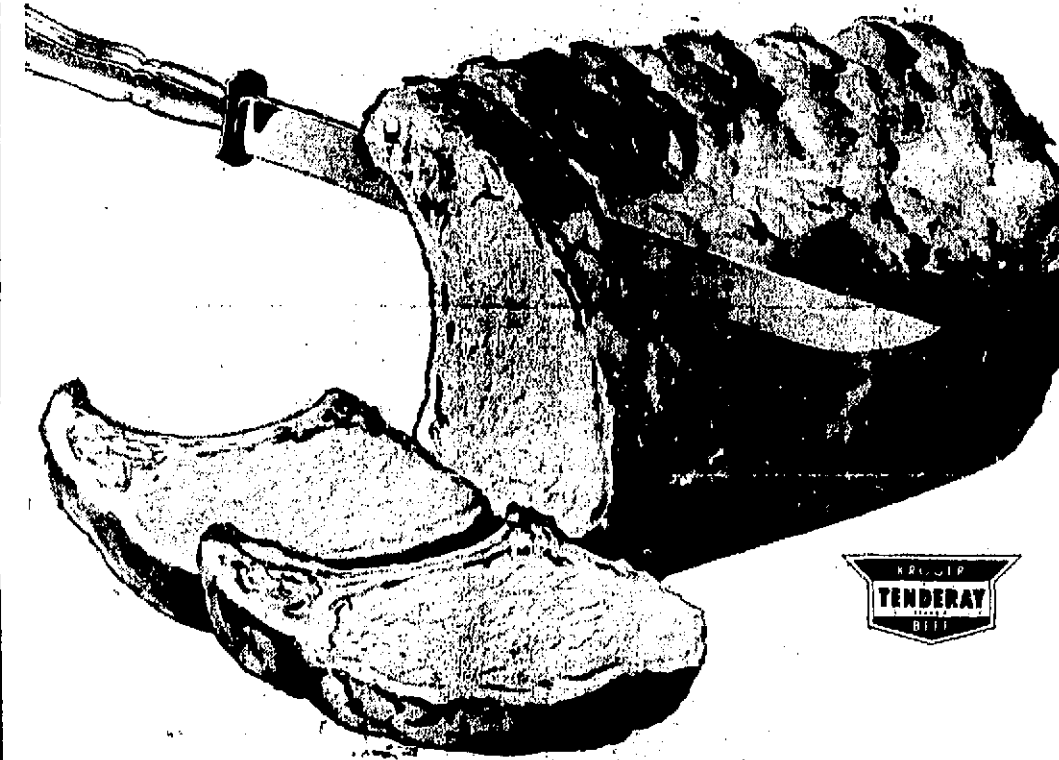

He will replace Lt. Gen. Emerson C. Tiesner, whose retirement was announced sometime ago.
